

Each year, the leaves changing really marks the transition out of summer and into the retreat season. The leaves are changing a little more slowly, it seems, this year- it's as if we're being gifted more time to appreciate the colors! I hope you enjoy the image of the view from the Lakeview South addition that I took this morning.

Midway through this month, we welcomed out around 80 seniors to join us for Senior Adult Day. This day included some worship, a message, a meal together, and some 'land and sea' tours. I was grateful for the opportunity to share during the tours some of the knowledge that I have picked up through my first three summers (and years of attending as a camper). Many of those who attended were first time visitors!

We concluded this month with Women's Retreat with just about 70 ladies coming out to join us for that. The weather was beautiful, Rev. Dr. Rose Lee-Norman brought impactful messages about growing where you're planted, and it was a wonderful time of fellowship. If you're considering this event in the future, I would like to really encourage you to give it a shot! Here is some feedback from an attendee this year:

"During chapel I felt a peace as to where He has placed me in this moment and that it is "good enough" and that I don't have to strive for more right now just bloom where I am planted and He will grow the fruit."

We're also excited for our upcoming events! Registration is open for the Fall Youth Retreat- this is our second year with this back, and we're working to make each year better than the last! Sign-ups for this event do need to be tied to a church- if you are interested in attending, but don't have an idea of who to sign-up through, feel free to reach out to us and we will do our best to connect you with an attending youth group.

Additionally, we have the annual meeting coming up on November 1st. Things to look forward to at this meeting are updates from the different departments of Lake Beauty, camper commitment statistics and updates, and the theme announcement for summer 2025! We hope that you are able to attend.
