

Stories of camp; a place set apart by God...

I recently had the pleasure of touring the beautiful grounds of Lake Beauty Bible Camp with a long time friend of camp. He shared rich memories of his days spent at camp. As we explored camp together, he told me stories of his time here as a ten year old camper. He felt God's presence and the true joy that He brings. He related further stories of experiencing God as a summer staffer and now as a dad of a camper. There was excitement in his eyes and obvious emotions in his voice as if he was experiencing these things all over again as he told the stories. In Acts 20:35, it states, "remember the words of the Lord...". Stories help us remember those important moments. Stories connect us to the emotions and we remember how we felt. They are good reminders of not just the events, but keep us connected to the experience.

Lake Beauty's vision statement is this: LBBC is a place set apart where the heart, mind, body and soul of every guest can encounter the living God. I would encourage you to tell your stories of how God has met you during your time at camp.
