

ASMS

ASMS is the state's only fully public and totally residential high school for academically talented sophomores, juniors, and seniors seeking advanced studies in mathematics, science, computer science, and humanities.

Find out how the Alabama School of Mathematics and Science can lead you on a path to success. Just like its tuition, meals, room, and board, applying to ASMS is FREE! If you are a current Alabama 9th or 10th grader, start your online application at www.asms.net

ASMS is Alabama's only STEM Legacy School, meaning it has been leading in and advancing STEM education for a long time — over 30 years!

Students accepted into ASMS have access to hands-on, experiential learning, focused on research and collaboration. Whether it's Physics, Biology, Computer Science, Math, and Chemistry, or History, English, Communications, Foreign Languages, and the Fine Arts, college-level courses delivered by college-credentialed instructors provide an unmatched educational experience!
