

Student Eligibility for Counseling Services

Eligibility is based on the availability and appropriateness of services to a given student's needs. If in the staff's professional clinical opinion, the need for services is greater than or different from our ability to meet it (in terms of nature, frequency, duration), Counseling & Wellness Services reserves the right to offer a consultation and referral to the student. Ethical and professional standards cannot be compromised in making these decisions and services will not be offered that are beyond the scope of services or capacity.

- KSUCPM students are eligible for counseling services throughout their academic career until graduation.
- Students who have failed the APMLE exam twice awaiting their third and final attempt in taking the APMLE.
- Students that are on a Leave of Absence (LOA).
- Students that have been dismissed and are applying for reinstatement and awaiting their appearance before the KSUCPM Academic Readmission and Reinstatement Committee.

Ineligibility

- Students that have withdrawn or are dismissed from KSUCPM.
- Students that have been dismissed for nonacademic reasons.
- Students who have been dismissed and have been officially reinstated are ineligible for services until they are enrolled.
- Students that have withdrawn and have been officially readmitted are ineligible for services until they are enrolled.

Academic Readmission and Reinstatement Committee

Students that have failed any two courses or rotations within an academic year are automatically dismissed from the KSUCPM program and if they choose, may apply for reinstatement. The Academic Readmission and Reinstatement Committee reviews the student's performance and a decision is made to reinstate the student to the program. During the period that the student is dismissed and awaits their scheduled meeting before the committee, they are eligible to access counseling for support.
