

What I'm Reading

Every month I will share an article that I think is compelling because of its results, perspective or recommendations.

This perspective articulates well how important the social determinants of health are to a patient's health and well-being.

And this study provides additional confirmation that the overwhelming majority of children with SARS-CoV-2 infection develop mild symptoms