

ASN NEWS

Input Requested on Best Practices from Ensuring Trust in Nutrition Science Report

The full report from the American Society for Nutrition (ASN)-commissioned Blue Ribbon Panel, "Best Practices in Nutrition Science to Earn and Keep the Public's Trust", is now available online in The American Journal of Clinical Nutrition's January 2019 issue. The report shares recommendations for working collaboratively with various stakeholders across sectors and disciplines while maintaining transparency and scientific rigor to uphold trust. There is also an accompanying commentary by ASN's President, Catherine J. Field, "Ensuring Trust in Nutrition Science: Request for Stakeholder Input." An online Stakeholder Consultation is now open to all interested stakeholders on the ASN website to gather input on the recommendations and to help inform ASN's plans for implementation of the recommendations. The stakeholder consultation will end on Friday, February 15, 2019. Please click here to learn more and to access the Stakeholder Consultation questions. We would appreciate your input on the recommendations, as well as on ASN implementation of the recommendations.

ASN Seeks Videos for Understanding Nutritional Science Competition

ASN wants to showcase videos highlighting your nutrition research! Enter the Understanding Nutritional Science video competition by creating a short video (2 minutes or less) that explains the important nutrition research you conduct and how it benefits public health. Open to ASN members only! Deadline to enter is February 28, 2019. Prizes will be awarded! The first place individual / team (of up to 5 individuals) wins one-year membership to ASN and free registration to Nutrition 2019! Learn more here: www.nutrition.org/contest

Upcoming ASN Briefing on Plan S

ASN and the American Society of Animal Science will sponsor a Capitol Hill briefing on Monday, February 25, 2019 at noon (2325 Rayburn): "Do We Need a Plan B for Plan S? The Impact of Open Access Publishing on Scholarly Publications and Scientific Societies". ASN Past President Dr. Teresa Davis will serve as one of the speakers. Learn more about open access publishing, Plan S, and the potential impact of open access publishing models on scholarly publishing and scientific societies. Please RSVP to sohlhorst@nutrition.org to attend this briefing.