

Reflection

“Often, the answer to our prayer does not come while we’re on our knees but while we are on our feet serving the Lord and serving those around us.” Dieter F Uchtdorf

I sometimes can become somewhat “paralyzed” in prayer. Waiting, if you will, to be shown what to do. It is almost as if doing nothing while waiting for THE answer is of some benefit. But here, I was reminded that following Jesus requires me to DO something- to care for others. Being a Christian is not a passive role. It is in “getting out of myself” that I recognize my blessings and feel compelled to be of help to others.

It also reminds me that God’s time is not necessarily my time. Perhaps I am not ready to receive His answers. A friend told me that God has 3 answers to prayer:

1. “Yes”, 2 “No”, and 3 “Not yet”. I have wise friends. 😊

Blessings,
Rosemary

****I saw this quote recently and it really resonated with me. I had no idea who the author was, but research shows he is a religious leader in the LDS Church. We can all learn from each other.
