

Rabbi John Carrier

When I work with our students on their divrei Torah, the speeches they give when celebrating becoming Bat or Bar Mitzvah, I always tell them to “start with gratitude.” (Actually, I tell them to start with “Shabbat shalom” but gratitude comes right after.) So:

Thank you.

Thank you for inviting me to apply to be your Rabbi. Thank you for your encouragement, support, and great questions throughout the search process. Thank you for making my whole family feel so welcome as a part of your community. Last but not least, thank you for your trust in selecting me to be your Rabbi, not only to teach and guide and support you through this difficult time, but for – I hope – many joyous years to come.

I wouldn't have picked our current moment as an ideal time to start a new job, but there is no community with whom I would rather face this challenge. And in the last month since my selection, my feeling has been confirmed many-fold.

In the words of novelist James Lane Allen: Adversity does not build character, it reveals it. Since I came to PJTC a little over a year ago, I have been impressed with the people here: the dedication of the lay leaders and volunteers, the professionalism of the staff, and the heart and creativity of all. Over this last month, all of these qualities of character have shone through as all have risen to the challenge.

You have checked on each other and shopped for each other. You have helped people get prayer books to join us for live-streamed services, and you have helped people get memorial candles for Yom HaShoah. You have made sure our commitment to care and justice for those in the broader community has not wavered. You have lived the truth of our maxim from the Talmud: Kol Yisrael arevim zeh b'zeh – We are all responsible for one another.

You have learned new tools and new ways of connecting with old friends and with timeless traditions, but perhaps the most valuable lesson we are learning now: Patience.

No one is more excited than I am to have people singing together in our sanctuary and breaking bread together in our social hall. I'm so impressed with what we have done together remotely, but my eyes are turning square from all the Zoom meetings. Our new conditions are getting old fast. Nevertheless, I encourage you to have patience. It's clear that the measures we're taking are saving lives. I'd go so far as to say our patience with these measures has already saved lives in our community and our very families.

I confess I am concerned about the haste with which some states, municipalities, businesses, and individuals are relaxing the safety measures that have “flattened the curve” and saved lives. And I get it: We all want things to feel normal again, and many of us face increasing insecurity and increasingly hard

by Nancy Carlton, President

These are challenging times. For many of us, life has slowed down, giving us an opportunity to reconsider our priorities and reconnect with family and friends in new and different ways.

I am finding time to re-evaluate my support of Sisterhood and how we can better serve our PJTC community as well as the broader Jewish community through our programming and financial resources. Are Sisterhood's activities meeting your needs? What do you see as important work Sisterhood should consider? Do you have ideas to better engage our members? I would love to hear your thoughts, your suggestions and your concerns as we rebuild our Sisterhood in what will soon be the new normal.

I continue to treasure the friendships that are a result of my involvement in Sisterhood. I trust you can say the same, although we are finding new and creative ways to communicate and spend time with one another. If you have not yet joined or renewed your membership in Sisterhood, please consider doing so. And, think about getting involved in a leadership position. There are many opportunities, both big and small, on-going or one-off programs. I welcome your call to discuss ways you could dip a toe into the water.

Mark your calendar to join us for our Sisterhood Board Meeting on Monday, May 4 at 7:30 p.m. via Zoom. Our monthly meetings are open to all Sisterhood members. Learn about our upcoming programs and activities. If you have any questions, do not hesitate to contact me at (626) 798-5920 or iamyou082@aol.com. And, please give some thought to those questions I pose above!

PJTC Volunteers in the Community

By Edie Taylor, Flame Editor

Many of our members volunteer at various agencies in the Pasadena area, and most of you are familiar with them, We publish items about Union Station Homeless Services, Friends in Deed, Foothill Unity Center and several others, and our members contribute to some of them, But do you know which of our members are actively involved with these groups?

Starting with this issue, we will tell you about those of our members who are actively working with Union Station Homeless Services, and next month we will feature Friends in Deed's Women's Room, In the July issue we will update you on those who assist Foothill Unity Center. Those are the major organizations in our area that are supported by PJTC members, although there are others who volunteer at Huntington Hospital, Huntington Library, the Gooden Center, the Arboretum, Descanso Gardens and many others I am not aware of. Many of these volunteers can ALSO be found helping out at PJTC!

In this issue we feature Union Station, written by volunteers Andy Schwarz, Rochelle Weiss and Jan Pais.

UNION STATION

By Andy Schwarz and Rochelle Weiss

The PJTC community has a long and meaningful commitment to Union Station Homeless Services, which was led by the dedicated Rabbi Marvin Gross z'l for 22 years before he retired.

Volunteers from PJTC help at the two main facilities, the Family Center on East Orange Grove Blvd., and the Adult Center on Raymond Avenue.

At the Adult Center we feed dinner to about 50 people, and the Family Center feeds close to 40 adults and their children. Both facilities serve dinners consisting of a fresh green salad, a roll, baked chicken, potato or macaroni salad, juice, ice cream and cookies. The clients applaud and show their appreciation.

For many years Karen and the late Allen Gross BBQ'd hamburgers at home and delivered them to the Adult Center. Madeline Mark z'l had chaired the dinners for the Family Center, and Kathy Kobayashi baked her wonderful chocolate chip cookies for both Centers. We want to thank them and all the other people who helped over the years. Current shoppers and servers at the Adult Center are Andy Schwarz, Rochelle Weiss and Betty Krachman, and those who help serve are Gail Gendler, Mitch Gladstein, Leah Sloan, and Susan Harden. The volunteers who bring and serve dinners for the Family Center are Jan Pais, Karen Levin, Alex Levin, Ryna Aviram, with extra support when needed from Bonnie Skolnik, Anna Bruck and Naomi Marcussen,

When this crisis began, Union Station was challenged to provide meals for their clients. PJTC volunteers are continuing to deliver their monthly dinners, but are not serving them. Donations to the Union Station Fund at the temple will help pay for the cost of the food.

The dinners at the Adult Center (7-8:30 PM) and Family Center (5:15 to 7 PM) are on the third Monday of each month. Please contact Andy at andyschwarz62@gmail.com or janiceapais@gmail.com to give your support.

Once this crisis is over, please consider volunteering at the Family or Adult Centers.

economic consequences. The necessary health measures, as well as their long-term economic and psychological consequences, will challenge us as few living people have been challenged before.

That's why I have never been more grateful that my family is part of a community that has shown its commitment to one another for almost 100 years, and part of a people who have been a light unto the world for around 4,000 years. As I said over Pesach, Jews have done more with less. If we have patience, and if we persevere with the heart and dedication we have shown so far, we will get through this together. I trust you. And I could not be more humbled and honored to be your Rabbi.

Board Report

The Board of Directors met on April 27 via Zoom and heard a report from Andrea Mark, who examined relational initiatives as part of a board directive to examine how PJTC might better engage our members. Mark interviewed other synagogues and churches to determine their best practices. Using "The Relational Judaism Handbook" board members and guests went into breakout sessions and then reported back to the larger group.

The board also approved a motion for Executive Committee position changes. Faith Segal vacated the Vice President of Management position to concentrate on the Centennial plans. Stacey Sharp will now serve as VP of Management, while Jeff Landau will fill her previous position of VP of Programs. There is currently one board member at large position open.

The board also heard the news that PJTC received a Payroll Protection Program loan of $249,000 and a Centennial loan of $250,000 from First Choice Bank. Moreover, Jack Singer will head the Budget Committee, which will begin meeting in May.

Men's Club

by Erich Schlecht, President

Hello PJTC! Well, as you know, not much is going on these days. Of course, we had to cancel our Bagel Brunch and screening of "Who Will Write Our History" on Sunday April 19 in honor of Yom HaShoah (April 21), though I am trying to watch the film now, not easy with my slow internet connection.

We are still planning our Men's Club Board installation for a June 28 Brunch, including a talk on Genealogy by Laura Gold. If necessary, we may have to "Zoom" it!

Last month the Men's Club board voted to take the money we planned to use for the Food Fair and donate it to the Jewish Federation of San Gabriel and Pomona Valleys, despite the Fair's cancellation. In the same spirit, one "activity" I have engaged in more during the forced time at home: donating to organizations under coronavirus distress, especially those aiding the unfortunate such as folks experiencing homelessness. Take care and stay healthy. As the sage said: Gam Zeh Ya'avov: "this too shall pass". (thanks Edie!)

Please join Men's Club! You can contact me (schlechtca@cs.gmail, 818-354-4887). Or on line (<https://givingtools.com/give/389/40>), which can also be used to sign up for future events.

Happy USYers eating pancakes with gusto!

Kids, parents, community members line up for pancakes before sea ice talk.

Melissa Levy, Youth Director

I'm so proud of the way our youth are facing this crisis with compassion and creativity. On an international level, Jewish teen leaders have created "USYfi" (rhymes with wi-fi) and now teens from New York can attend the same online Zoom game night as teens from Pasadena or New Orleans. They can pick from a wide menu of programming related to Israel, upcoming holidays, trivia, and just plain and simple social fun.

Our local USY chapter is also remaining active. Like the true mensches that they are, the USY Board's first priority was to reach out to the elderly, infirmed and isolated within our own PJTC community. I hope that many of those reading this article were the recipients of one of the nearly 120 hand-made, personalized cards sent out by youth from B'nai Simcha Preschool, and members of PJTC Kadima & USY. If you haven't yet received a card or letter and would like to, feel free to reach out to me at usy@pjtc.net and I'll match you with a young person! (It also may still be in the midst of being created.) Many thanks to Claire Gorfinkel and B'nai Simcha Director Jennifer Leonard for the team effort on this endeavor.

Our local chapter has also begun its share of online programming, with activities including a Seder Dance, origami frog-making for the seder table, a Build-A-Fort contest, an online talent/art show, and a Zoom Scavenger Hunt. I've been leading a weekly havdallah and song-learning session with our USY VP of Religion Noah Kronsburg, and Co-President Leah Laska-Sandleman is working on a weekly wellness video series. We also just started two separate book clubs for Kadima and USY that will continue to meet weekly over Zoom during the summer months. Later this month we're working on an end- of-year Israeli/Jewish Holidays Trivia Challenge, and I'm currently sourcing restaurants that can provide us with individually-portioned ingredients to do a youth community challah bake--we'll see how that one works itself out!

I need to share another very positive bit of news. You may remember that back in January USY did a full day of community service, and one of the projects was to make uplifting lawn signs with positive messages as they learned about mental illness and suicide prevention. USYer Isaac Tragarz RECENTLY put his sign on the lawn, believing it to be a perfect message for our trying times. It reads "You've Got This." Well, Isaac received a thank you note in the mail from a complete stranger who has started walking by the sign every day because they found it inspiring! The whole Tragarz family felt so much pride from this exchange, as do I. We need these pieces of positive news and to hear from each other about ways to make a difference. Why not take a cue from Isaac, make your own sign, and put it up in your window for passersby? Indeed, we've got this!

The Social Justice Committee

By Carl Selkin, Committee Member

Why is this Passover different from all others? The extraordinary sacrifices by so many people around the world who have stepped up to the incredible challenges of this plague remind us that in such times we take impossible risks to save those who are threatened. Sometimes this means leaving the fish and the onions, the comforts (even as slaves) of the familiar Egypt (see, Numbers/Bemidbar XI,5) for a future on the other side of a mysteriously riven sea and a pathless desert. We do not know what the landscape of covid-19 will be like; however, we are beginning to see that this crisis casts large shadows of the inequities etched into our society. Today we are finding our way. Social Justice asks, "Where will we be tomorrow?"

Yet the pandemic has not short-circuited the work of the Social Justice Committee. Our meeting on March 29 was our first held remotely. Thirty-six members joined together on Zoom to continue the work. Last fall as part of our leadership transition and strategic planning, we surveyed member priorities for action in the upcoming year--and beyond. We have begun the work to implement activities and programs based on those priorities. The overwhelming interest of the SJC is the 2020 elections and voting. Building on the screening and discussion of the documentary film "Suppressed," Peter Braun organized a subgroup to encourage voters to cast ballots in 2020.

At our March in-person meeting, we discussed a variety of ways to address this multifaceted issue. One proposal was to join in a county-wide faith organization initiative of "100% voting congregations." We discussed a presentation by the subcommittee to recommend to the PJTC Board that we participate in this LA Voice effort to achieve the fullest participation in the 2020 vote by church, synagogue and mosque congregations. After debate, however, and considering the reservations raised by our newest SJC member, the SJC decided not to pursue participation.

The larger issues of challenges and obstacles to voter turnout still top our agenda, and we have reserved several dates in anticipation of programs to educate ourselves about our political choices and issues, and about the voter initiatives we will be deciding in November.

Days before the covid-19 restrictions on gatherings were promulgated, the Social Justice Committee heard some welcome news about the fruition of one project we introduced last fall. Following a presentation, Sherri Hauer volunteered as a Temporary Resource Parent for a child in immigration detention awaiting family unification. Sherri and her family were able to host a 10-yr old boy from El Salvador for two weeks. He was reunified with family members the Saturday before the quarantine curtain shut down the program. We hope to find others who can accept a temporary foster child after this pandemic resolves and the opportunities return to help children who continue to be caught in this system.

For questions or comments, please contact me, Carl Selkin at sjcPJTC@gmail.com. The SJC mission: to respond to societal conditions and contemporary issues based on traditional Jewish values and the prophetic admonition: "Tzedek, tzedek tirdofe – Justice, justice shall you pursue!"
