THE WASHINGTON POST NAMES APEX HOME LOANS A 2021 TOP WASHINGTON-AREA WORKPLACE

Rockville, MD – 6/18/2021 – Apex Home Loans has been named one of The Washington Post’s 2021 Top Workplaces in the Washington, D.C. area. Selection is based solely on employee feedback gathered through an anonymous third-party survey administered by research partner Energage, LLC, which measured several aspects of workplace culture, including alignment, execution, and connection. This year’s honorees include government contractors, real estate firms, professional and business services, law firms and tech companies.

“Now in its eighth year, The Post’s Top Workplaces list continues to highlight the companies in the Washington-area that are leaders in company satisfaction and engagement,” said Washington Post Top Workplaces editor Dion Haynes. “Throughout the past 15 months, these companies have had to make quick decisions in order to keep their employees safe while also balancing productivity and efficiency, and their employees have taken note of this great work.”

While it’s nice to be recognized for the culture we’ve ALL built together (and work hard to support and continuously improve (#Kaizen)), making these types of “Best/Great/Top Places” lists reinforces our ongoing effort of attracting only the best team members ... and even the best customers.

The Washington Post hosted a virtual awards ceremony on Thursday, June 17 to recognize the top-ranked companies. For more about The Washington Post’s Top Workplaces and to see the full list of this year’s honorees, visit www.washingtonpost.com.
