

ROBERT M. WEBB, JR. M.Ed.

BIOGRAPHY

Robert M. Webb, Jr. is an Educational Leader and change agent with the insight, vision, and enthusiasm necessary to inspire teachers and garner impressive results for students. Mr. Webb graduated from Southern University A&M College with his M.Ed. +30 in Administration and Supervision, M.Ed. in Speech Pathology, and B.S. in Speech Pathology and Audiology. Mr. Webb is committed to providing students with unparalleled motivational skills needed to excel academically and equipping them with essential tools to be college and/or career ready while becoming a productive citizen of the community.

Mr. Webb is a highly self-motivated educator with proven success in school reform and building exceptional schools. He relishes collaborating with colleagues, educators and non-educators to provide holistic learning to teachers and children. He is an advocate for change especially with outcomes that are beneficial to students and their families and/or impact the future of education.

Mr. Webb has served in numerous administrative positions ranging from elementary to high school. During his extensive tenure as an educator, he served as an Assistant Principal of an elementary, middle, high school and Principal and Director of a high school in the realm of Traditional and Charter. He is currently the CEO/CAO of a 9th through 12th type-1 charter school; where he works diligently to encompass best practices and data driven strategies that produce results which are systematic and systemic. He creates a school environment that focuses on “Greatness” while creating opportunities for students, teachers, parents, and community.

As an esteemed educator, Mr. Webb has received many honors and awards, including East Baton Rouge Parish 2009-2010 High School Principal of the Year. He is also a member of the National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASSP), Louisiana Association of Principals (LAP), National Alliance of Black School Educators (NABSE) and Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development (ASCD). He has presented at Tulane University, Southern University and A&M College, Texas Middle School Association and Technology, Reading and Learning Diversity (TRLD) Conference. Mr. Webb has completed the Louisiana Principal Induction Program for Principals and Assistant Principals. He is also certified as a School Superintendent.

Displaying a wide range of interests, Mr. Webb is deeply involved in public service, as well as community organizations, where he serves in a variety of leadership roles, such as being a board member of the Knowledge First Foundation. He also truly enjoys restoring antique automobiles. He is a Desert Storm Veteran, member of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity Incorporated where he has served as Chapter Polemarch. Mr. Webb currently resides in Baton Rouge, Louisiana with his wife and children, where he takes pleasure in contributing his spare time to numerous events that support their activities and endeavors.