Veterans' resources on library site

OAKLAND — VetNow, a collection of resources for veterans, is now available to website visitors of the Ruth Enlow Library of Western Maryland. The free online service offers live tutoring and job coaching, with test prep help, resume templates, interview tips and more.

"Helping veterans transition from the military back to civilian life is challenging," said

Thomas Vose, Director of the Ruth Enlow Library of Garrett County. "VetNow can help make that transition easier for returning service members and also offers resources for older veterans. VetNow experts can help veterans adapt their resumes and tailor them for civilian careers, translating military skills into terms that employers search for. VetNow users can access a large number of practice tests for math and computer skills, as well as for GED and college entrance exams."

Library users can find the VetNow link on the databases page of the Ruth Enlow Library website: <https://www.relib.net/?q=databases#V>.

LIBRARY RESOURCES GETTING LOCAL ATTENTION

Ruth Enlow spreads the word to veterans about VetNow

The new online database, VetNow, accessible throughout the region, has arrived in Garrett County.

Recently, the Deep Creek Times announced the availability of the resource. Thomas Vose, Director of the Ruth Enlow Library of Garrett County, was quoted in the local paper as saying, "VetNow can help make that transition easier for returning service members and also offers resources for older veterans. VetNow experts can help veterans adapt their resumes and tailor them for civilian careers, translating military skills into terms that employers search for."

The article included the address to access VetNow: "Library users can find the VetNow link on the databases page of the Ruth Enlow library website: <https://www.relib.net/?q=databases#V>. "
