MEMBER SPOTLIGHT

Marble's 60th Anniversary

60 years ago, Paul Marble turned an old cow barn into Marble's Automotive / Marble's Glass, where he did collision work and eventually started fixing up cars for resale.

A World War II veteran, Paul started his career at a body shop in Geneva. From 1945-53, he worked for Ed "Doc" Scherer in the Ford garage on Water Street in Penn Yan. His next job was with Martin Tones Sr. in Penn Yan.

In April, 1959--four years after he married his wife, Ginny--Paul opened Marble's Automotive on Route 14A, just north of Penn Yan on what is known to locals as Benton Hill.

"He started in an old cow barn. The building is still used today," said Paulie Marble, who started hanging around the business as a kid in the 1960s and has been on the payroll since 1972, when he was 16.

Congratulations on 60 years!
