August 28 Pathways Theological Education, Inc. – L1.6 The Art of Worship (6 weeks) – explores worship in an overview that highlights but is not limited to the “Sunday morning worship service.” It considers the theological, biblical and historical underpinnings of Christian worship, the significance of the integration of “intensive” and “extensive” worship, individual and corporate worship, the sacraments and current worship issues and trends. For inquiries or registration email registrar@pathwayshteological.org or www.pathwaystheological.org
- August 28 Pathways Theological Education, Inc. – L1.1 Making Sense of Theology (6 weeks) – participants will learn how to reflect critically on their lives and the world around them using the resources of traditional Christian theology. You will learn to differentiate between embedded and deliberative theologies; articulate your own theology at this point in time, differentiate between your theology and those of others; and reflect on the importance of going theology in community. - August 28 Pathways Theological Education, Inc. – L1.2 Old Testament Hermeneutics (6 weeks) – explore the Hebrew Bible using historical critical methods and other tools of Biblical interpretation. - August 28 Pathways Theological Education Inc., - L3.5 Ecological Theology (6-weeks) - explores the Earth and all that lives here as the dwelling place of God. There is an ongoing dialogue between scientists' (especially Darwin's) meticulous observations of natural selection and evolution on Earth with the Nicene Creed, scripture, and theologies through the ages. This dialogue allows science and theology to both maintain their own language while at the same time challenging each other to broaden their thinking about this mystery called life and an unexplainable Giver of life that many of us call God. Elizabeth Johnson uses Rolston's concept of three Big Bangs to contemplate: the divine spark at the beginning of the universe, the beginnings of life on Earth and the emergence of Homo sapiens. For inquiries or registration email registrar@pathwayshteological.org or www.pathwaystheological.org
