About the Program

Most of us notice that the church we love is shrinking and wrinkling. CoLab.Inq is a team of pastors, academics, storytelling researchers, and educators who have joined together to study and understand emerging generations. We've read lots of book and interviewed over 200 young adults under the age of 40 who either have no religious practice (Nones) or no longer identify with a particular religious tradition (Dones). We discovered they have a lot to teach us! We've also identified some unique offerings the church has from which they could benefit.

We invite you to come and learn alongside of us the fascinating changes that are taking place that will help us engage emerging generations. At our November meeting they will share their findings with us.

Team members include Rev. Dr. Bonnie Bates, Rev. Dr. Jo Marchetto, Rev. Dr. Steve Simmons, Rev. Brandon Heavener, Janet Stahl, Jim Stahl and Dr. Jill Peters.
