The Lutheran Church Extension Fund (LCEF) Supports Ministry!

When you become an investor with LCEF, you can take comfort in knowing that your savings earn a competitive fixed-rate return while helping support ministry throughout the Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod. LCEF is a not-for-profit organization that exclusively serves the LCMS, and any positive operating results are reinvested to support ministry and mission efforts.

One example is the Ohio District College Connection Grant. Congregations and groups within the LCMS Ohio District may apply for a $1,000 grant each year to help keep college students connected with Christ while they are away at school.

Pictured here is the youth group from St. John Lutheran Church in Sherwood, Ohio, assembling care packages for their college student members. What a wonderful way to remind young adults that their church family is thinking of them, praying for them, and supporting them during their college years!

The College Connection Grant can support activities such as care packages, Bible studies, pizza nights, ice cream socials, and other events that help students stay connected to Christ and their church family while away at college.
