

BILL ARNOTT

Bill Arnott is the bestselling non-fiction author of Wonderful Magical Words and Dromomania. Bill's been a featured musician, spoken-word artist, moderator, performer, and host at hundreds of literary festivals and mixed-media events across Canada and internationally. His articles, reviews, and poetry are published in Canada, the US, UK, Europe, and Asia, with features in literary journals, magazines, and anthologies. Bill is a national songwriting finalist, poetry award recipient, and finalist for the 2019 Whistler Independent Book Award. When not trekking the globe with a horribly outdated camera phone or showing off his cooking skills as a culinary school dropout, Bill can be found on Canada's west coast, making friends and generally misbehaving. He lives in Vancouver, British Columbia.
