These questions encourage you to share a picture of your life both inside and outside of ministry. You'll be asked about the people and communities that support you, how you experience daily life and balance, and where you turn during difficult times. You'll also reflect on your current ministry setting, what has been life-giving or challenging in this season, and how you envision a healthy, collaborative relationship with the Bishop and the Synod.

1. Who are the important people, pets, or communities you spend time with outside of your ministry role?
2. What does your daily life look like outside of ministry, including family, friendships, hobbies, pets, and community involvement?
3. How do your relationships and activities outside of ministry support or influence your ministry work?

4. How do you find balance between ministry and your personal life, and are there supports you wish you had?

5. Who do you turn to in times of personal difficulty or emergency?
