

T-shirt Fundraiser - Easy Money!

by Jenni Wachter

We sold t-shirts as a fundraiser for SDSF and it was a very easy way to make money AND help raise awareness for Shwachman-Diamond Syndrome. We designed a shirt, showed the design on social media to family, friends, coworkers, and collected sizes from people interested in purchasing one. We submitted an order with a local t-shirt printing company for the number of t-shirts we had pre-ordered, plus a few extras. The t-shirts cost us $7 per shirt to have made and we charged $15 per shirt, raising $8 for the SDSF with every shirt purchased. The shirts came in, sorted out the shirts, made deliveries and collected payment via cash, check or PayPal. After paying off the t-shirt printing company and shipping costs, we wrote a check of more than $1000 to the Shwachman-Diamond Syndrome Foundation. All of the t-shirt customers are happy to support us and SDSF and while they're wearing their shirt, they are helping us raise awareness for Shwachman-Diamond Syndrome. It's a win-win!
