Amberley Village Municipal Tree Map

1 Rain Barrel (above) and Rain Garden (below)
Installed for the 2008 Arbor Day Celebration to help control damaging stormwater runoff, the system runs along the lower track between the Rain Barrel and the Rain Garden.

2 Ginkgo biloba
One of the oldest tree species on Earth, dating back more than 200 million years. They are extremely hardy and tolerant of urban conditions.

3 Flag Plaza - Callery Pear
A fast-growing ornamental tree known for its abundant white blossoms in early spring. It adapts well to a variety of soil and urban conditions.

4 Dura Heat River Birch
Recognized for its creamy, exfoliating bark that adds year-round interest. This tree is well adapted to warmer climates and urban settings.

5 Swamp White Oak
A large native oak that thrives in moist soils and floodplains. It provides excellent habitat and food for wildlife.

6 Scarlet Oak
Named for its spectacular scarlet-red fall color. Its acorns are an important food source for birds and mammals.

7 Autumn Fantasy Red Maple (Memorial Tree Donated by Resident Betty Whitaker)
A hybrid maple combining the red and silver maples. It grows quickly and displays brilliant red fall foliage.

8 Silver Linden
A graceful shade tree with dark green leaves that have silvery undersides. Attractive to bees and other pollinators.

9 American Elm
Famous for its tall vase-shaped canopy. Modern disease-resistant varieties brought this shade tree back to landscapes.

10 Perkins Pink Yellowwood
A rare and beautiful flowering tree known for its delicate pink spring blossoms.

11 Dawn Redwood (Donated by Resident Beryl Hazen)
Once thought extinct, this ancient tree species was rediscovered in China in the 1940s. Unlike most conifers, it loses its soft, feathery needles in winter.

12 Redpointe Red Maple (Donated by Resident & Former Mayor Tom Muething)
A fast-growing maple known for its strong structure and brilliant red fall color.

13 Autumn Fantasy Red Maple
A hybrid maple combining the red and silver maples. It grows quickly and displays brilliant red fall foliage.

14 London Plane Tree (Sycamore Variety)
A hybrid between the American sycamore *a*nd Oriental plane tree. Known for its striking patchwork bark.

15 Legacy Sugar Maple
A durable cultivar of the classic sugar maple. It is admired for robust growth, dense shade, and vibrant orange-to-red fall color.

16 Redpointe Red Maple
This dependable maple cultivar retains a symmetrical shape, and its brilliant autumn color make it a favorite for streets and parks.

17 Lacebark Elm (Planted in Memory of Councilmember Edward Hattenbach)
Also called Chinese elm, this tree is known for its mottled bark that peels to reveal shades of gray, green, and orange.

18 Eastern Redbud
This native tree is renowned for the wonderful early spring display of brilliant pink flowers, carried in profusion on the dark, bare branches

19 Linden (Memorial Tree Donated by Resident Jerry Pabst)
Linden trees are prized for their fragrant summer flowers and dense shade. Their blossoms are a favorite of pollinators, especially bees.

20 White Oak
One of the most majestic native North American trees. White oaks can live for centuries and support hundreds of species of wildlife with their acorns and foliage.

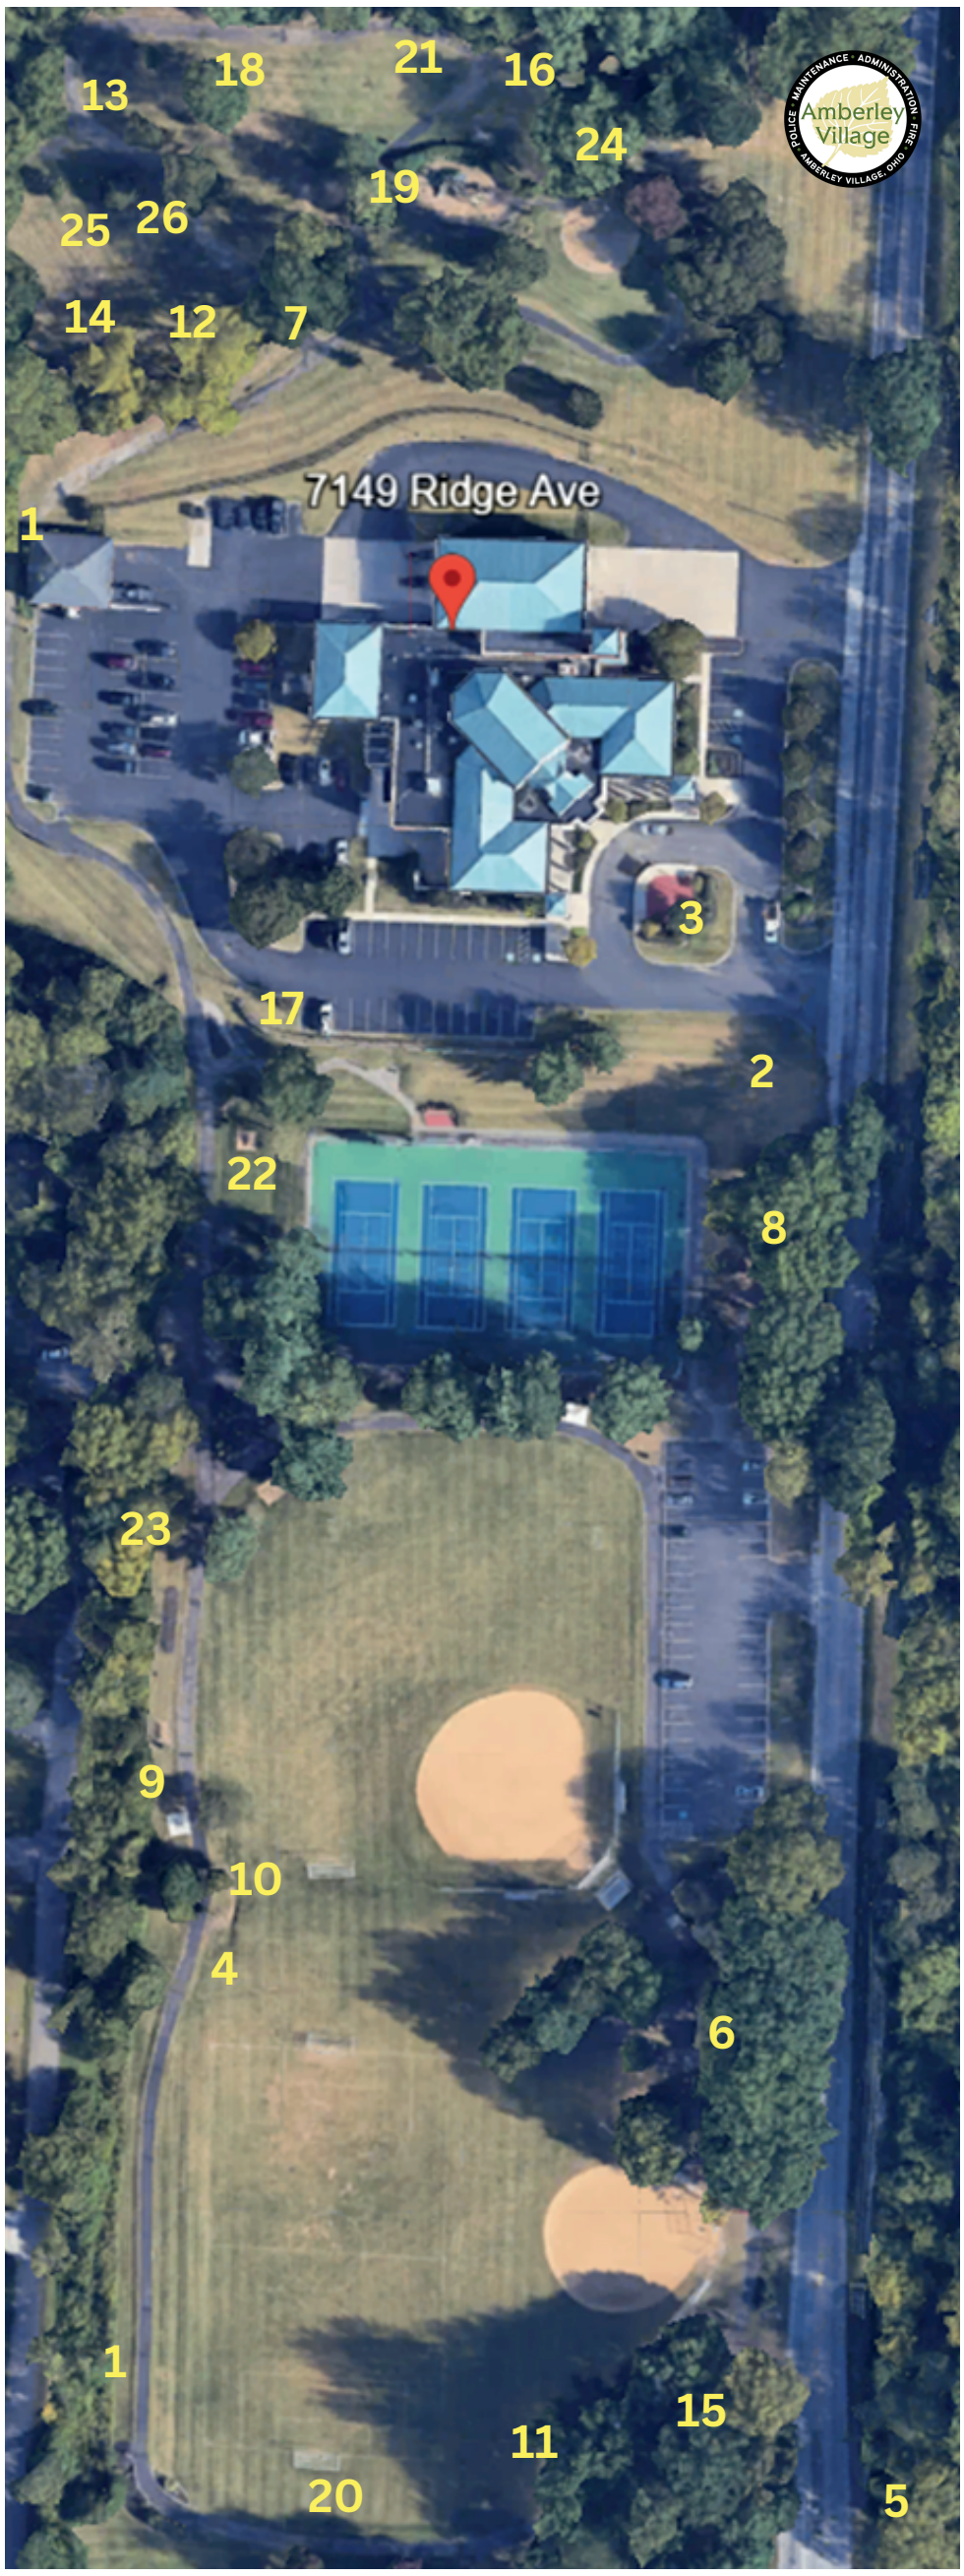

21 Thundercloud Plum
An ornamental plum with striking deep purple leaves. In early spring it produces soft pink flowers that appear before the foliage.

22 Kwanzan Cherry (Donated by Amberley Village Employees in Honor of Former Mayor Tom Muething)
A show-stopping ornamental cherry known for its large, double pink blossoms in spring. It is an exceedingly popular flowering tree planted in parks and gardens.

23 American Linden
Lindens are long-lived trees that provide excellent shade and are valued for their ornamental beauty.

24 Ginkgo biloba (Named 2011 Heritage Tree)
This tree was planted in 1935 outside the front door of Dr. Abraham and Rachel Wigser, whose home once stood on the Amberley Village Municipal Grounds. The Ginkgo was first planted in America in the late 1700s, and is a living fossil that once kept company with dinosaurs.

25 Autumn Fantasy Red Maple (Memorial Tree Donated by Resident Betty Whitaker)
This maple is a deciduous tree that grows best in full sun, and blooms in early spring before leaf emergence.

26 Autumn Fantasy Red Maple (Memorial Tree Donated by Resident Betty Whitaker)
A relatively low maintenance tree, the Autumn Fantasy Maple blooms beautiful showy clusters of red flower in the early spring, and stays red for several months in the fall.
