CARL REINER AND MEL BROOKS: BEST OF FRIENDS, FINDING REAL JOY AND INSPIRATION IN ONE ANOTHER'S COMPANY

They gathered each night in these chairs at Reiner's Beverly Hills home to enjoy dinner, Jeopardy!, and their favorite films. Inevitably, they would make each other laugh. As Carl put it, "I use him as entertainment." Mel agreed, saying, "I loved how much Carl laughed, and how much I laughed. It was like spreading joy. It was pure fun."

"If you have one good friend, you're lucky. And I have one good friend. My life is fuller because of Mel."

CARL REINER

"Carl was the greatest audience. He was always Carl: funny, sweet-natured, warm, and just the most wonderful friend a person could ever have. People know how good he was, but not how great."

MEL BROOKS
