Business Success Story... Shawn Hopman

Shawn Hopman had a simple goal: He wanted to drink less soda. Seeking an alternative, he discovered the fizzy, health-oriented drink kombucha and started brewing at home. Fast forward a few years, and Shawn is now a commercial producer of kombucha with a regional distribution and runs Ya-Sure Kombucha, a downtown Brainerd taproom and event space. Shawn participated in a 2020 cohort of Enterprise Academy, a 12-week Initiative Foundation program paired with free technical assistance and access to flexible capital designed to help diverse and low- to moderate-income entrepreneurs launch their business ideas. "They've given me tools to take my business to that next level," Shawn said. With support from his technical assistance provider, Shawn was able to purchase his own building in downtown Brainerd, and his kombucha can be found in stores, restaurants and resorts throughout Minnesota and North Dakota.
