

2021 ANNUAL REPORT

July 2020 - June 2021

A Message From Our Leadership

What LEAP staff accomplished this year was Olympic in scale. More specifically, it was tantamount to a year-long track-and-field event. The LEAP team cleared myriad hurdles, ran long sprints and short ones, and completed relay races working collaboratively to cover for each other when the sheer number of tasks became overwhelming.

Thanks to our generous and committed donors not one permanent full-time or part-time employee was laid off. The constantly changing COVID-related landscape – different in each district in which LEAP operates – kept everyone on their toes. Staff practiced all of the 21st century skills we teach our students: grit, problem-solving, adaptability, critical thinking, initiative, and, most importantly, collaboration and communication.

In the end, our staff, and all of our supporters and stakeholders, won gold. Just look at our accomplishments:

- 1 Served over 400 students, including 76 new students in Lynn.
- 2 Established our Business Partner Network, signing up seven companies with 74 employees volunteering 480 hours over the year.
- 3 Launched a Diversity, Equity, Inclusion and Advocacy Initiative with a diverse 16-member committee of staff, Board, students, alumni and community members.
- 4 Invested $40,000 to upgrade staff and student laptops and outfit our classrooms to handle virtual and hybrid instruction.
- 5 Increased our highly active pool of career mentors and volunteers by 50%.
- 6 Ran a first-ever transition program for 29 rising 9th graders.
- 7 Stayed financially strong throughout the year.
- 8 Expanded benefits for employees including a matching 401k plan and a vision plan.

Staff and volunteer expenses (payroll, recruiting, professional development) represent over 80% of LEAP's total operational expenses. While our staff and volunteers are our greatest expense, they are also our greatest asset. Due to our commitment and laser focus on student success, magic happened. Students and staff drew strength and power from each other and, as a result, everyone grew personally and professionally.

To our many donors, many of whom also volunteer as trusted advisors, tutors, instructors, mentors or role models, our entire staff and board salute you and extend our gratitude for standing by our side throughout this challenging year.

With gratitude and so much hope for the future,

Jody K. Goldman

Growth and Impact: LEAP Plans for a Diverse and Sustainable Future

MISSION STATEMENT: LEAP for Education empowers underserved students to achieve social and economic mobility by cultivating personal, educational, and career growth.

STRATEGIC PLAN FOR FY 2021 – FY 2023

With input from over 100 stakeholders, we identified eight goals for our FY 21-23 Strategic Plan that fall into three categories:

Sustainability

complete documentation, address risk management, improve staff retention, and develop clear and consistent messaging

Diversity, Equity, Inclusion, and Advocacy

develop LEAP's organization, students, and staff into role models and advocates for anti-racism and social justice

increase the number of students served, invest in technology, expand career programs, and expand Business Partner Network

DIVERSITY, EQUITY, INCLUSION, AND ADVOCACY (DEIA)

In early 2021, LEAP for Education convened a diverse 16-person committee to complete a DEIA Plan by December 31, 2021. The project plan will set out action steps to create a culture that is anti-racist and equity-centered. It will also consider the unique needs, perspectives, and potential of all staff, volunteers, students, families, and community partners. We believe this investment is a moral imperative and will increase organizational impact by fostering and empowering higher degrees of equity, belonging, engagement, productivity, and innovation.

“ LEAP is a dynamic partner with the Salem Public Schools. They work with us to ensure that our students succeed in middle and high school but more importantly, they equip them with the skills and resources to persist and sustain through post-secondary graduation and into a career. ”

“ I joined LEAP’s Board in 2020 to make an impact in education, to be a voice of action, and to help LEAP grow in Lynn. This past year it has been an honor to be part of an organization that served so many students who, like myself at their age, need after-school programs that empower them to create, believe in, and pursue their own unique educational and career goals. ”

LYNN UPDATE

The Dream MORE (Marshall Opportunities for Resilience and Education) program at Thurgood Marshall Middle School completed a successful school year with 70% virtual attendance. In the summer of 2021, Dream MORE had its first in-person program with an impressive 91% attendance rate. In a step towards long-term sustainability, Lynn Public Schools and LEAP were awarded a competitive, multi-year 21st Century Community Learning Center grant to enable expansion and enhancement of this program.

COVID – 19 RESPONSE

The pandemic continued to disrupt education throughout most of the school year. All schools largely remained virtual through April of 2021. During this period, LEAP shifted from after-school programs to school-day, in-person programs at Collins Middle School to support virtual learning for students who could not be at home alone or who needed extra support. Our Lynn program at Thurgood Marshall Middle School remained virtual, and our high school programs were a mix.

Student Profile: Andrison Pérez-Brea

When Andrison says he “grew up at LEAP,” he really means it. For a time, back when LEAP was known as Salem CyberSpace, Andrison lived with his family in an apartment directly above the LEAP space. One day he came to LEAP looking for help with his homework. That began a relationship that endures through today. Whereas once Andrison was a tween looking for some tutoring, he is now a mentor to a new generation of LEAP students.

Andrison’s family immigrated to the United States from the Dominican Republic shortly before Andrison was born in 1996. As a first-generation native-born American, LEAP gave Andrison a place to go where he was welcomed as part of the family, a place that set him on a pathway to future success. LEAP is “first and foremost about education,” Andrison says, crediting LEAP with the agency he needed to plan his future and take the steps necessary to achieve his goals. “LEAP helped me figure out who I am and taught me to think critically. Whenever there was fog clouding my future, LEAP was my guiding light.”

When it came time to apply for college, LEAP helped Andrison fill out the complex forms required for financial aid and college applications. He was accepted by Salem State University, where he graduated in 2018 having majored in business administration. While still in college, and then later when he was working his first job in banking, Andrison worked at LEAP as a mentor. It was through this experience that Andrison realized that his true passion was education, so he changed careers to become a paraprofessional at Salem High. In this role, he is in charge of a program that helps ninth graders make the transition from middle school; he also works with students from all grades who are experiencing social-emotional or behavioral issues.

When asked if he has advice for today’s and tomorrow’s LEAP students, Andrison says firmly, “LEAP is chock-full of resources. Make sure you take advantage of as many of them as you can. Think of LEAP as your second home.” LEAP will always welcome Andrison home!

THIS IS OUR INNOVATIVE, WHOLE STUDENT APPROACH TO WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT

“ I really enjoyed learning how to design a website. I had to understand and practice writing Hypertext Markup Language (HTML). It takes a lot of patience! Coding also helped me with English because I learned more difficult words. ”

Karla, rising 7th grader,
Thurgood Marshall Middle School

ACADEMIC ENRICHMENT: Students learn in a variety of settings that broaden their academic knowledge. Project-based and experiential learning helps students see the connections between academics and career paths and develop 21st century skills such as problem solving, critical thinking, and collaboration.

POST-SECONDARY AND CAREER DEVELOPMENT: Students participate in education and career development lessons and workshops to help them chart a course for their future. Students identify their strengths and interests and connect them to educational pathways and careers with ongoing support from advisors.

“ I am incredibly thankful for LEAP and the College Success Program. Since graduating, I have been able to get a full-time job as an Associate Producer and give back to LEAP by creating videos for their fundraisers and becoming a mentor. ”

Tori Thompson, CSP alumna, Gordon College, 2020,
Associate Producer, Lightmark Creative

“ This program helped me realize that others go through similar situations, and knowing that makes me feel less alone and more open emotionally. It has also helped me develop my ability to interact with others which I continue to improve. ”

Johan, Teen Center participant,
Brothers for Success

SOCIAL-EMOTIONAL LEARNING: Students develop a belief in themselves and confidence to pursue the future they want. LEAP provides mentoring programs and opportunities for students to build interpersonal skills such as communication and intrapersonal skills such as self-advocacy.

SOCIAL CAPITAL: Students build a supportive network. LEAP provides students with multiple opportunities to develop their relationship-building skills by connecting with peers, alumni, teachers, community members, and career mentors in both formal and informal settings.

“ LEAP staff stayed with me all through high school and college, providing me with invaluable connections and career advice that helped me find my dream job at Google. ”

Sia-Linda Lebbie, LEAP alumna,
University of Pennsylvania, 2021,
Associate Product Marketing Manager, Google

Volunteerism at LEAP

LEAP would be unable to provide such a high level of personalized academic, social-emotional, post-secondary and career services without our individual volunteers and Business Partner Network.

INDIVIDUAL VOLUNTEERS

Many LEAP volunteers help students develop plans for success, serving as vital one-on-one mentors and program facilitators. Others also support LEAP fundraising, events, and strategic initiatives.

“ LEAP has the best of everything: great leadership, dedicated staff, an important mission, and inspiring results. These are the reasons we continue to support LEAP. ”

BUSINESS PARTNER NETWORK

Established in 2020, and expanded in 2021, the Business Partner Network (BPN) is composed of local companies whose employees commit to helping LEAP students find their unique pathway to career success. LEAP runs myriad programs and activities to connect students with BPN employees who share similar strengths and interests.

“ EBSCO Information Services joined LEAP’s Business Partner Network to connect our employees to LEAP students as career mentors. Through this work, we hope to do our part in expanding the youth pipeline for careers at EBSCO and elsewhere in the workforce while opening up new opportunities and resources for our youth. ”

“ We continue to support LEAP each year as one of our top donations because of their commitment to serving underserved students and their families. As residents of Lynn, we are thrilled to see our youth benefiting from the invaluable services that LEAP offers. ”

Ruth and Ben Adeyinka

LEAP for Education empowers underserved students to achieve social and economic mobility by cultivating personal, educational, and career growth.
