Supplyframe DesignLab Presents

Sarah Umles: Unearthed

Produced by Pasadena artist Sarah Umles, Unearthed is an arts-based research project at the nexus of technology, media, consumerism, anthropocentrism, and land politics. Presented in Umles's solo exhibition at DesignLab is the premiere collection of artworks in her ongoing investigation into anthropogenic causes of environmental imbalance and the climate crisis, and their impacts on the Earth and its inhabitants.

Through multimedia installations incorporating found objects, mass manufactured consumer products, industrial materials, natural elements, and archival media, Umles considers chaos, corrosion, death and grief at the monumental scale of societal decay, species extinctions, and ecological collapse.
