

Choose Community

The words of Martin Luther King have resonated for decades with people not just in the US, but all over the world. They speak to the struggles of people in his own country - yes. But they also speak a universal truth, to the struggle of being human and the struggle of living in compassion, wisdom, respect, love and harmony with one another.

Dr. King's words have never been so poignant, powerful and resonant as they are today. He said that "We cannot walk alone" and indeed I agree - we need to walk in alliance with one another, alongside one another and with love for one another. If we wholeheartedly do this, we can overcome many chasms and many obstacles. Let's do this TOGETHER for the LOVE of our community.
