

This week we had our first in-person Business After Hours in five months! It was wonderful to see familiar faces after so long. Although I am still not keen on the elbow bump in place of a good hug, we all managed to have a lovely time reconnecting with each other - good food, wine and company has a way of making everyone happy! But truthfully I heard stories of hardship and success, of loneliness and of incredible community support. I came away with "my cup filled up" knowing that this is indeed a resilient business community - one where we continue to just show up for each other. The road ahead is getting brighter. Let's travel it together.

OPRF Chamber of Commerce 2020 Appeal

The OPRF Chamber of Commerce has always been about shared experiences, and learning from that shared wisdom. We still provide a platform for just that, and more. As part of this business community, we ask you to consider a gift of a full or partial membership to another member TODAY.

The Chamber not only advocates and informs, but it also provides a critical network to help support small business. We are dedicated to placing community above all else and working together for a more resilient business community.

We need each other now more than ever!
