

Joe Rossignol Thursday January 16, 2025 6:45 am PST

Apple today adjusted estimated trade-in values for select iPhone, iPad, Mac, and Apple Watch models in the U.S., according to its website.

Some values increased, while others decreased. The changes were not too significant, with most values rising or dropping by $5 to $50.

We have outlined some examples below:

Device	New Value	Old Value
iPhone 15 Pro Max	Up to $630	Up to $650
iPhone 15	Up to $400	Up to $410
iPhone 14 Pro Max	Up to $450	Up to $500
iPhone 14	Up to $270	Up to $300
iPad Pro	Up to $520	Up to $555
iPad Air	Up to $270	Up to $275
iPad mini	Up to $200	Up to $215
Apple Watch Ultra 2	Up to $390	Up to $375
Apple Watch Series 8	Up to $145	Up to $140
Apple Watch Series 7	Up to $100	Up to $105
MacBook Pro	Up to $915	Up to $875
MacBook Air	Up to $425	Up to $445
Mac Studio	Up to $1140	Up to $1170

Apple's trade-in values also changed for some Android smartphones.

Trade-ins can be completed on Apple's website or at an Apple Store, and the credit can be applied towards the purchase of a new Apple product, or placed on an Apple gift card for later use. Apple's trade-in page offers a complete list of values.