AP Exam Registration Form

The following information is meant to help parents and student, who are currently taking honors level courses, with the decision to take, or not to take, the corresponding AP (Advanced Placement) Exam.

AP Exam Registration and Payment Deadline: Monday, November 11, 2024.

Exam Fee: $99 per exam. ($40 per unused or canceled exam.)

Parents and student should NOT assume that being in an honors course fully prepares them to take the AP exam (some courses simply don't cover all that AP mandates; we do not "teach to the test" as we have our own curriculum we follow). Also, a score of 3 or higher (out of 5) on the exam, does NOT guarantee college credit. Every college program differs in their AP acceptance. Talk to your college admission rep.

Things to consider when deciding whether to take the AP exam in the spring (usually early May):

1. Does the student tend to score high on standardized tests?
2. Does the student have the time and motivation for extra study?
3. Teacher's input/recommendation.
4. Look over the comparison of AP and Dual Enrollment Courses.

I have spoken to my parent/guardian and honors teacher about the AP exam. I fully understand what needs to be done (studying, practice tests, etc.) to do well on the test.
