

Marin Interfaith Climate Action

The Marin Interfaith Council now has an organization dealing directly with climate change, the Marin Interfaith Climate Action (MICA).

Currently with a membership from 13 faith communities in Marin, and affiliated with local, state, and national environmental and climate groups, MICA is looking to extend its base of membership and increase its connections to our Marin faith communities. Driven by a moral imperative to take action now, MICA is confronting the growing climate crisis in three ways:

- Developing environmental education and adopting mitigating measures within our own religious communities
- Being advocates for climate legislation
- Collaborating in meaningful actions with other environmental organizations

Our Vision

Our vision is a world in which human activities foster climate justice and ecosystems sustainability.

Our Mission

Our diverse spiritual traditions call us to be agents for climate justice. We address the existential threat of climate change through environmental education and act in within our religious communities, advocacy for climate legislation, and collaborative actions with other environmental organizations.

For more information about joining MICA, please contact Pat Carlone, pcarlone@hotmail.com, 415-233-1656 or Katherine at kdsjain@yahoo.com.