Unmet Needs Information

FEMA defines an unmet need as being a deficit between verified disaster-caused damages and obtainable disaster aid, including insurance assistance, Federal and State assistance, and personal resources. The State of Florida recognizes an unmet need as a need that persists after the above have been exhausted. It is the goal of our division to provide information that could assist survivors who may have identified unmet needs as a result of a disaster, in making connections with agencies outside of the Division. The Unmet Needs page on the Division’s website provides links to various entities/resources that may potentially aid in meeting the survivor’s unmet needs.
