

About Tanya Jones

Ms. Jones is a social justice advocate and a survivor, which has led to her strong desire to influence cultural change and create a continuum of care through restorative dialogue one organization at a time. She is the mother of three amazing sons who “constantly remind me why I have a voice!” She holds degrees in Political Science, Human Rights and Genocide with concentration in Cultural Anthropology. Her love for bringing awareness to the importance of tolerance, inclusion prevention and recovery has manifested itself in her most recent Campaign venture. Be Unstoppable™! Unstoppable = Resilient, Resilient = Brave, Brave = You, You = Unstoppable©

Tanya is a seasoned and dynamic awareness training professional with over 20 years of outstanding performance, previously in a multitude of organizations within the Department of Defense. Ms. Jones has served as an Asst. Inspector General where she was actively engaged in teaching and training. Ms. Jones was also integral to implementation of agency level EEO, D&I, Special Emphasis and Disability Awareness Programs. As a senior level Defense Equal Opportunity Institute (DEOMI) trained Equal Opportunity Counselor (EO), Diversity & Inclusion (D&I) and Compliance professional, she grew accustomed to leveraging resources to achieve maximum results, designing program activities, setting goals, milestones and evaluating program effectiveness.

Tanya is the CEO and Founder of Interactive Advocacy \(IA\), an emerging educational training company that offers innovative and cutting-edge new approach to performance-based training. IA allows for audience’s engagement through psychodramatic theatrics. These sessions allow for a more realistic, and genuine, interaction between audiences and the subject matter, producing an authentically organic learning experience that will be carried with participants into the real world. Tanya is also the creator of the “THIS IS NOT A GAME™,” a series of interactive educational training materials that address toxic behaviors that impact our communities.

About Interactive Advocacy

Interactive Advocacy (IA), is an emerging performance based theatrical training company that offers real world “Edutainment”. Here at IA, we offer an innovative and cutting-edge new approach to advocating for cultural change within organizations. Our methodology to this approach is through interactive performance based (IPB) theatre, both scripted and impromptu sessions, to engage our audience and foster dialogue; to implement solutions that create a culture of care. We utilize both psychodramatics and a little bit of comedy to address social pressures, Sexual Assault, Consent, Bystander Intervention, Gender role stereotypes, Diversity and Inclusion, and so much more.

Interactive Advocacy introduces THIS IS NOT A GAME™, a series of interactive training tools designed to increase critical thinking, problem solving skills and integrate fun in your training environment.

- HOT TOPIC is a high impact interactive training tool series that addresses complex awareness issues. The HOT TOPIC™ sexual assault awareness workbook “DON’T JUST STAND THERE®”, offers scenario-based learning (SBL), using interactive scenarios to support learning strategies. Users resolve complex and sometimes uncomfortable storylines using problem solving, critical thinking, and subject knowledge; this is done in a safe training environment. Our training tools offer individual or group training exercises. Our workbooks provide real world context in areas such as sexual assault, sexual harassment, consent, and bystander intervention.
- THE BLACK BOX™: A series of conversation starters with realistic scenarios depicting abusive behaviors. Participants are challenged to consider what role they would assume as a bystander.
