

Low Country Cruise to River Street

ABCHH Low Country Cruise/Luncheon to Savannah River Street on May 19th offered the opportunity to cruise parts of the Savannah River Shipping channel where captains had the opportunity to use their boating skills. The weather was mostly sunny with light winds. Nine ABCHH boats with 31 total Captains, Crew and guests enjoyed the cruise/luncheon to River Street where they had lunch at the Shimp Factory on River Street. Graig Loomis was the lead cruise captain who led the flotilla. Ron Robinson, the Cruise Coordinator, made arrangements to dock the flotilla at the public Eastern Wharf Recreational dock, which is close to River Street and the Shimp Factory Restaurant. After securing all the boats, everyone proceeded to walk along River Walk to the restaurant. The restaurant was prepared for the ABCHH event and provided great service with a nice selection of food.

Most everyone departed on their own for the return trip home. All had a fun day with their fellow Low Country boating friends. A side note: Disappointing day for Jack Fiala and his guest due to boat engine issues, which prevented him to join the flotilla. Jack indicated he called for a tow back to his home port.
