

Leadership Lunch Series

Ideas, Insights & Inspiration for Nursing Teams

Investing in your team has never been more important. This interactive, live educational series is designed to connect nurses, nurse leaders, and teams with contemporary national thought leaders for professional learning and growth. Sessions facilitate the sharing of ideas as speakers provide insights and tools to help nurses and leaders stay informed and inspired. Participants enjoy 90 minutes of professional development via Zoom each month while eating their lunch.

Nurses rave about this program that has become an ONL favorite!

# 1: Friday, January 20th, 12:00-1:30 PM, Jean Watson, PhD, RN, AHN-BC, FAAN, LL (AAN)
Watson's Caring Science as Sacred Activism: How can micro-acts create an environment of healing, connection, and change for informed leadership?

Authentic, robust leadership and remembering purpose are needed more than ever post pandemic. Small acts of care (micro-practices) can be used to help repattern our healthcare system's values, realigning them with your overarching mission: to care. Watson's Seven Sacred Sutras® will be explored as examples of self-care practices; a reminder to care for oneself to prepare to lead authentically.

# 2: Friday, February 17th, 12:00-1:30 PM, Elizabeth Duthie PhD, RN, CPPS

Adverse Event Management: The Journey from Harm to Healing

The journey of healing after harm events should start with investigation and employ interventions to support second and third victims. In this session, Dr. Duthie will explain why common approaches to incident investigation may present barriers to healing. She will share best practice incident investigation techniques that support staff and explore strategies from the literature to promote learning and healing.

# 3: Friday, March 17th, 12:00-1:30 PM, Margo Brooks Carthon PhD, RN, FAAN

THRIVING: Leveraging Innovation to Address Pressing Health Care Challenges and RE-ignite Our Professional Passion

Frustrated and discouraged by persistent healthcare disparities, Dr. Brooks Carthon leveraged innovation and human-centered design to regain her professional spark, recover from exhaustion and trauma, while also meeting needs of marginalized patients/clients and their families. Using the THRIVE case study exemplar, participants will gain an understanding of the phases of the design-thinking process with a goal of applying knowledge to clinical, professional and leadership challenges.

# 4: Friday, April 21st, 12:00-1:30 PM, Barbara Mackoff, EdD

Mentoring Moments: The gestures of generativity

Become a leader of leaders! Explore generativity and discover actionable attitudes and strategies for supporting and bringing out the leader in every nurse. Dr. Mackoff will help participants rethink mentorship and use mini-moments to pass knowledge to our colleagues by building habits of generativity.
