

SPRING 2023
Nurse Leader Master Class

For nurse leaders already established in a leadership role

The Nurse Leader Master Class (NLMC) is one of ONL's signature leadership development programs designed especially for nurse leaders already established in a leadership role, providing three days of highly interactive, cohort-based professional development to help leaders reenergize, refocus, and renew their leadership practice.

Offered virtually via Zoom, the NLMC provides the right balance of content and facilitated discussions for participants to advance their professional leadership practice and to build connections with peers across organizational boundaries.

Wednesday, March 15th, 2023, 9:00 AM - 3:00 PM ET, via Zoom

Dr. Barbara Mackoff: Leading Yourself

Day 1 focuses on each individual as a leader. Key components of leadership are discussed including motivation, personal mission, self care and trust. This interactive and reflective session equips leaders with new insights including how to align personal values with organizational mission, addressing trust among colleagues and teams, and the grit and fortitude that each nurse leader tapped into during the past year.

Wednesday, March 22nd, 2023, 9:00 AM - 3:00 PM ET, via Zoom

Dr. Gaurdia Banister & Dr. Leah Gordon: Advancing Diversity & Inclusivity

Creating inclusive work environments, caring for racist patients, and addressing bias are central to nursing leadership roles. Day 2 explores the impact of racism in health care and in nursing equips leaders with the knowledge and skills needed to reduce bias and advance inclusivity.

Wednesday, March 29th, 2023, 9:00 AM - 3:00 PM ET, via Zoom

Deborah Gerardi JD, RN: Coaching through Change

Deepen your connection to yourself, your values, and your perspective to move through disorienting dilemmas, and expand your ability to step into uncertain and chaotic situations. Day 3 will address one of ONL's most requested topics: how to handle conflict and crucial conversations. Participants will learn how to use a coaching approach to lean into conflict and "disorienting dilemmas."
