The Speckled Trout Launches New Outfitters in Blowing Rock, NC

Caption: Fish caught on a recent Speckled Trout Outfitters float trip with Common Good Co of Boone.

The Speckled Trout Restaurant and Bottle Shop of Blowing Rock has been bringing the joy of friendship and food to the High Country for many years. They have recently coupled that joy with their love for adventure in the great outdoors through the launch of The Speckled Trout Outfitters. Guided by high country native Joel Brown and local chef and guide Michael Foreman, fishermen will find themselves not only catching trophy fish from local waters, but enjoying a world class guided adventure.

“Ultimately, we are passionate about serving people, giving them a chance to rest, and hopefully have a day to remember. By connecting with those who share a passion for food, adventure, and the outdoors; we are given the opportunity to focus on our community through collaboration, conservation, and education all while providing an elevated experience for guests & residents of the High Country.

- Joel Brown

Guided trips with The Speckled Trout would not be complete without the addition of the first class dining experience you have come to know and love. While they provide everything you need for a successful day on the water, be sure to bring your appetite. Chef prepared meals are served up right on the bank of the river or in your boat.
