Your Voice Matters: Help Shape the Future of All Schooling Supports

CDE is seeking feedback from all families to better understand why parents choose all varieties of school options (e.g., traditional public school, charter, online, homeschool, other) and what educational programs, services, and resources they use to support their students.

The information gathered through this survey will play an important role in informing the upcoming State Board rulemaking processes and legislative priorities for part-time homeschool programs, online schools and beyond. Just as importantly, it will help policymakers better understand the diverse needs and choices of all families as they consider how state funding and resources can best support students and families.

Your perspective is important. The more families who participate, the more accurately the survey will reflect the strength, opinions, and needs of all communities across Colorado.

Please take a few minutes to complete the survey and encourage other families to do the same. Your participation will help ensure that all voices are heard and considered in decisions that may affect future policies, programs, and funding regardless of schooling choices.
