

Ken Harrison is the volunteer chairman of the board of Promise Keepers, where he works to inspire men to be bold, faithful and godly fathers and husbands. He is also the CEO of WaterStone, which helps Christian donors give away $2 million weekly for God's Kingdom. An author and speaker, Harrison has appeared on numerous media outlets including "Dr. James Dobson's Family Talk," The 700 Club, Fox News, The Blaze TV, OANN and The Huckabee Show. With a long record of dedicated service to ministry, Harrison has preached in high-risk areas of countries such as Mexico, South Africa, Haiti and the Philippines. He started his career as a Los Angeles police officer, where he received numerous commendations and awards. Then, he spent two decades building a commercial real estate business, which he sold to the second largest commercial real estate company in the world. During that time, he's been a Colson Fellow and served on numerous local and national boards, including FCA, Colorado Uplift, Urban Youth Ministries, Corban University and WaterStone. Harrison has been married to his high school sweetheart, Elliette, for over three decades. They currently reside in Colorado, and they have three adult children all serving the Lord. He is author of numerous books, including Rise of the Servant Kings: What the Bible Says About Being a Man and now A Daring Faith in a Cowardly World. Both books were born out of the hard-won lessons he's learned as a husband, father, police officer and successful international businessman. He hopes his experience can encourage others as they seek to live boldly for Christ and family.

ABOUT PROMISE KEEPERS

The new Promise Keepers is committed to connecting men across all denominational, generational, racial, and cultural lines. Yearly conferences and local PK gatherings – combined with new virtual events and the PK App – give men across the world access to an unprecedented hub of Christian resources. This library of resources includes Bible studies, sermons, and practical courses developed by incredible partner organizations and ministries, as well as the best Promise Keepers content from the last 30 years. Topics include fatherhood, marriage, faith, and mental health, with additional topics and resources added on a regular basis. What's more, quarterly virtual events and everything in the PK App are free to both individuals and churches. Men's groups host local gatherings throughout the year using resources geared specifically towards men and the issues they care about. PK also helps connect churches with larger organizations like Prison Fellowship for even greater opportunities for outreach and ministry.
