

CULTURALLY COMPETENT & RACIALLY RESPONSIVE STORYTELLING

WILLIAM JAMES
COLLEGE

Center for Workforce Development

WITH DR. SADE CALLWOOD

- An experiential journey to explore your individual and cultural history, present and future, through storytelling.
- Blending ancient oral tradition and contemporary narrative therapy techniques.
- Critically examine how bio-psycho-socio-political experiences shape personal identity and inform clinical work by facilitating relationships through narrative.

Dr. Callwood, a WJC Alumna, utilizes her Caribbean-American lived experience to inform her clinical work with historically marginalized and oppressed individuals. Dr. Callwood provides individual therapy, co-facilitates a diversity seminar for post-doc fellows, and serves as a board member for a Boston-based non-profit that fuses mental health therapy and sports for youth.

WILLIAM JAMES
COLLEGE

Center for Multicultural &
Global Mental Health

WHEN: NOVEMBER 15, 2021

6-7:30PM

WHERE: ZOOM

MEETING ID: 825 2114 8870