Andrew Martin, Managing Director and Co-Owner of Ajar Technology

Andrew grew up in West London, and is proud to be a founder, investor, owner, and CEO of two successful Technology Companies headquartered in the Borough of Hounslow and operating across three Continents. Ajar Technology have been assisting organisations in their digital transformation journeys since 2005 working across sectors including Aviation, Central & Local Government, Commercial Residential Developments, Healthcare, Police, Prison and Rail. Having worked in the technology industry for over 20 years, Andrew has a proven track record in strategic growth and long-term successful business relationships built on trust, integrity, and fun. Andrew and his team are committed to local employment and local talent.