

Paintin' On the Edge of the Bay

Paintin' in the mornin' sun, I'll be paintin' when the evenin' comes

Watchin' the lashed ship sway, I'm waitin' to sail someday

I'm sittin' on the edge of the Bay, paintin' Turner, rigged its way

I'm sittin' on the edge of the bay...Passin' time...

Anon, apology to Otis Redding

You are invited to stop wastin' time, give yourself a mental health break, discover your inner artist, and support Call of the Sea--all at once--by enrolling in an intimate, yet personally distanced and masked, watercolor class, to paint brigantine Matthew Turner.

When: Saturday, June 13, 2020, 10 AM to Noon and a second class from 1PM to 3PM.

Where: Sausalito Bay Model Visitor Center, waterfront garden/amphitheater

Instructor: Lucinda Eubanks, with over 30 years of experience teaching painting, currently Resident Artist at Cavallo Point, is volunteering her time to teach this class.

Cost: $110 --100% of all proceeds (including a generous sponsorship from Sausalito resident Steve Fabes) will go to Call of the Sea.

By order of the County Health Officer, Class limited to no more than 10 total people, including the instructor. Reservation required, First to request reservation, first served.

To enroll: email info@callofthesea.org

What to bring? A face mask, hand sanitizer, and a pencil. All other materials (watercolor paint, brush, palette, paper, easels) will be provided for you to use on-site.

What to take away? An original painting of Matthew Turner, suitable for framing, signed by that newly discovered waterfront artist, you!