PASTOR'S PAGE

Dear People of St. Paul's,

By now I hope you have heard about our new ministry opportunity: St. Paul's has decided to accompany a refugee family! They are a family from the Congo, seeking asylum. I wanted to share with you more personally what this opportunity we are pursuing means to me.

One of the parts of my family history that always fascinated me was that my maternal grandparents lived in Germany for about 6 years. My grandfather, a pastor and history professor, worked there through the Lutheran Church after World War II, helping to rebuild the German Lutheran Church and reunite refugee families. While my grandpa was busy at his official work with the Church, my grandmother was welcoming refugees and dignitaries alike into their home, feeding them, hearing their stories, and loving them.

Though I don't have any direct experience working with refugees, I consider my grandparents' particular experience to be a part of my make-up, because it was such a formative part of my mom's and then my own upbringing. In fact, many of my Johnson family and now my Rehbaum family traditions were begun during my grandparents' time in Germany. This family legacy is part of what drove me to become a Young Adult in Global Mission through the ELCA, serving a year in Slovakia. I wanted to explore the ministry of accompaniment in this global setting, like my grandparents – hearing people's stories, loving them, and walking alongside them.

Though my time in Slovakia was formative in important ways, I have long had a particular yearning to get more involved in helping refugees. Every time I hear a presentation, or meet someone who does this work, or read again the words throughout scripture that say, in various ways, "Welcome the stranger..." I feel that familiar tug again. I can't say what has been my hold up all these years. Fear of the language barrier, perhaps, or lack of understanding of the situations that force people to leave their homes, or the demands of my own life as pastor, wife, and mother. But I've kept the possibility in mind, hoping someday to pursue it.

Imagine my delight, then, when I mentioned St. Paul's getting involved in such a ministry to our delegates at Synod Assembly, and they responded with enthusiasm. And my further delight when I put it on the table at council and there was immediate interest and action. And my joy when Rochester Refugee Resettlement Services came to talk to interested members about it, and I could feel the energy and interest in the room. When the council decided at our meeting the next day that we would, indeed, accompany a refugee family, I felt like a long-held dream was finally coming true.

God has been watering this seed in my heart for a long time, and I am so thrilled St. Paul's has seized the opportunity and will be accompanying this family. God knows what form it will take, and how God will use us to minister to this family. I'm along for the ride, with eyes and heart wide open, to receive whatever God is to put in our laps on this journey.

I hope you will consider being involved in some way. Several options are laid out later in this newsletter. God is using us, people of St. Paul's, and I can't wait to see how!

In faith,

Pastor Johanna

New Members

St. Paul's is welcoming new members this month!

Learn about them here, and make sure to introduce yourself when you get a chance.

Don & Amy Barber

Don and Amy Barber are Walworth, NY residents. Originally from St. Paul, MN area, they initially joined Bethlehem Lutheran Church in Webster. During 2020-2021, they searched for the right combination of liturgical and expositional churches and found both at St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church. Don is a data base engineer for Anjou software company and Amy is a senior planning supervisor for L3 Harris. Hobbies include bicycling, reading, quilting, and RV camping.

Fred Haynes

Fred came to St. Paul's through his wife, Theo Haynes, who is active at St. Paul's. They were drawn to Rochester by the younger Haynes family (Jeff and Holley). Fred is interested in discussing the Bible and singing in the choir. He also goes to Scottish country dancing, and is enthusiastic about nature and science.

Richard & Lois Johnson

The Johnsons lived in Grass Valley, CA (northern) for nearly 40 years, where Dick was a Lutheran pastor, before moving to Rochester last year to be near to family. Lois is a retired kindergarten teacher, and loves to sing, quilt, and play with her grandkids.

Dick is also a professor of church history, and loves singing, the NYT crossword puzzle, and genealogy.

Thomas & Emily Sauke

Thomas and Emily Sauke were married at St. Paul's in August, 2021. Thomas comes from a Lutheran background, having grown up at Messiah Lutheran in Greece, and Emily is looking forward to learning more about the Lutheran expression of faith. They live in Victor, and are looking forward to St. Paul's being a part of their new life together.

David & Nadine Wolfe

Dave and Nadine moved to Pittsford last year from State College, PA to be closer to their family: a son in Pittsford and a son in NH. They were members of Grace Lutheran Church in State College. They have attended Christmas Eve and other services at St. Paul's when visiting and enjoyed the service and friendliness of the congregation. Dave is a retired hematologist/oncologist and enjoys reading, fly fishing and cooking. Nadine is a retired RN and enjoys knitting, reading, baking and playing with the grandchildren.

Mission & Service

St. Paul's is Accompanying a Refugee Family!

After praying and deliberating and seeking more information, St. Paul's has decided to accompany a family, through Rochester Refugee Resettlement Services. (You will soon receive a letter describing this in more detail). This responsibility is more about relationship than money; our role is simply to walk with this family to help them acclimate to their new life in America. Here are some ways you can be involved:

- Pray! One of the most powerful and important ways to help this family is simply to pray for their success, safety, and well-being.
- Be on a rotation to "check in" with the family, committing to spend time with them on a regular basis. This is the work of relationship, and includes getting to know the family and listening to them and what they have to offer. It might involve visiting their home, sharing a meal together, going on an outing, tutoring kids, etc. This may be a once monthly or so commitment, depending on your availability.
- Be "on call" to help with things like giving rides, networking to get them connected to the community, doing minor house repairs, etc.

The ELCA's definition of mission is "accompaniment." It is the most important way we can live out the Gospel and spread the good news. We hope you will prayerfully consider how you might help accompany this family in these coming months, as we pursue this ministry of welcome and hospitality.

Read more about the ELCA's understanding of accompaniment HERE, or here:

<https://www.elca.org/Resources/Global-Mission#Accompaniment>.

Those who want to volunteer in the capacity of building relationships are encouraged to attend a Bible study on the concept of accompaniment. Stay tuned for dates and times.
