What is a Pregnancy Resource Center?

You might have heard someone mention a pregnancy Resource Center or recently seen in in your community, but you are not sure what they are all about.

Simply put, Pregnancy Resource Centers, Pregnancy Resource Centers are non-profit organizations that offer free pregnancy services to the community. They also offer resources, such as educational materials, supplies, and information about what services are available in the communities.

Did you know that Pregnancy resource Centers, provide much broader services than that? The PRCs primary goal is to come alongside men and women to offer practical and tangible support for whatever situation they are currently facing.

First, PRCs are non-profit organizations. They are privately funded through donors and do not receive government funding. They also do not profit (or make money) from their clients, but provide their services free of charge. They serve clients from all social and economic backgrounds, without judgement of their religious background or sexual orientation.

Some PRCs are medical clinics. These Centers are under the supervision of a Medical Director, often an OBYGN that works in the community. They employee medical staff, keep medical charts, follow HIPPA (privacy) rules, and offer pregnancy tests and limited OB ultrasounds free of charge. This is a great resource for someone who is facing an unplanned pregnancy and wants to know what her options are. An ultrasound confirms whether the pregnancy is viable, (growing in the uterus) and the gestational about client's rights, as well as education about abortion procedures and risk, and abortion alternatives.

Some medical PRCs also offer STD testing. While some charge lab fees incurred from testing, all PRCs have free STD consultations and provide information, education, and referrals to medical services free of charge. Nurses employed by the Center preform STD testing and provide education. PRCs typically do not provide birth control, but provide education about birth control and sexual risk avoidance.

PRCs provide a variety of resources. Some have parenting classes and an "Earn While You Learn" program, where participants can earn points by learning about child development, budgeting, and then purchase supplies for their babies. Some have support groups for women considering adoption or for women who are in need of support after an abortion. PRC staff are also aware what programs are available in the community and provide this information to their clients-everything from food resources, Bible Classes, medical assistance, counseling, housing, and more!

Pregnancy Resource Centers primary goal is to educate and empower men and women who are facing difficult situations. Their staff are kind and caring. They listen without judgement and love people without an agenda. Check out our Center Daybreak Pregnancy Center and Learn more!

The Board of Directors, staff, & Clients wish all a very Special Thanksgiving

A message from DBPCC , Director Linda Mitchell

When you walk into DBPCC, you will experience warmth, kindness, and compassion, both from the staff and volunteers. We are specialists in bringing care, comfort and practical solutions. We listen and learn about a woman's situation, walk her through her options and empower her to make decisions. We are in it with her for the long haul. We are so encouraging by the faithfulness of our partners in prayer, support, and giving. We trust that God will continue to supply our needs as we move forward at DBPCC.

We have helped over 400 clients so far this year, many DBPCC Clients had no other means of support.

A lot of Moms tell us that everything they have to care for their baby came directly from us. They do not get baby showers, the people in their life s are pushing toward abortion.

The Daybreak Pregnancy Care Center would not be able to do the work that we do without the support of our donors. There are thousands of nonprofits and amazing causes out there, we thank the Churches, individual donors, and businesses for supporting our awesome outreach and Ministry. Words cannot express how grateful we are for your generous donations. You have made a difference in so many lives.

We are Thankful for our life

Thank You!

All Babies deserve a Bright Start!

WE ALL THANK YOU
