

Conversations about

L.I.F.E.

LOVE | INFATUATION | FRIENDSHIP | EXPLOITATION

GET YOUR FAMILY TALKING AT HOME about loving relationships, sexuality, & abuse

Parent-child conversations make a huge difference in a child's life! Recent research studies indicate that most young adults attribute the strength of their faith life and moral development to their parents.

Conversations about L.I.F.E. is designed to help parents have conversations with their children about Love, Infatuation, Friendship, and Exploitation—as the individual child is experiencing them now, at this stage of his or her personal development. The program provides a foundation for developing healthy, loving relationships, built on respect and responsibility. It also provides a context for lessons on safe environment.

Parents, we invite you to participate in this valuable program with your child or children, so you are better able to have these important conversations with them. The age-appropriate discussions and activities will be guided by a trained facilitator who will make it comfortable and easy to follow for both parents and children. Furthermore, this can all take place in the comfort of your own home!

Please join us for a ZOOM call to get your family talking at home! Register HERE. Sign up for the grade session that is closest to your child's age (i.e. 2nd graders can participate in 1st or 3rd grade session).

Two sessions are available to fit your family's needs and schedules!
