Texan-raised, Oregon-based singer-songwriter Beth Wood has won almost every major songwriting competition in the United States, and with 20 years of touring and 11 studio albums. Now, she is doing what brings her Joy! She and kindred-spirit Singer-Songwriter from Appalachia, now Washingtonian Ara Lee James have an inspirational concert that showcases their incredible harmonies, a cappella and guitar-based musicianship. We are delighted to welcome Beth and Ara to Orcas, their first visit to the San Juan Islands! <https://standandsway.com/video>

*“From Ara Lee’s self-professed “heathen gospel” to smokey blues to the most rhythmic R&B to the most deeply touching ballads—Ara Lee is a vocal treasure. She belts...she wails...she testifies..she rocks...she does it all with a depth and range like no other.” — Morry Feldman, WQED Chicago
