

A lifeline of hope in crisis

2020 tested our faith and communities like never before. When the COVID-19 pandemic disrupted lives across the globe, parishioners throughout the diocese did not turn inward. They brought the love and hope of Christ to each other by meeting the immediate needs of those made increasingly vulnerable by the pandemic.

Your support allowed us to resource and amplify the urgent actions of parishes responding to COVID-19 throughout the diocese.

Together, we invested

over $125,000

in ministry on the frontlines of the pandemic meeting immediate needs in our communities.

Together, we reached over 60,000 sisters & brothers in Christ.

Parishioners at Holy Apostles Church in Brooklyn started delivering school supplies to remote students whose families were struggling to make ends meet. A parent told the principal of PS 15:

I've never felt so loved, so heard, so cared for.

Within hours of the lockdown, St. John's Church in Huntington connected to Project HOPE to begin providing healthy meals to those in urgent need. By December, this modest project out of the church kitchen had raised over $150,000 to feed the hungry across Huntington.

Due to your generosity, we were proud to resource these initiatives and dramatically increase their impact.

Our parishes are counting on your support to continue their ministry and to be the hands and feet of Christ in our communities in 2021 and beyond.
