An excerpt from Jim's flyer:

"True Leaders First Learn to Lead Themselves When you can build your own life in positive ways, then you may want to think about helping to guide others. Jim's multi-sensory approach to leadership takes advantage of all that brain science tells us about how people learn. This program includes storytelling, slideshows, custom games, songs, puppets, magic, high-tech devices, and loads of interaction to keep students engaged."
