

Certificate in Practice-Based Approaches to Methods Instruction in Teacher Education

January 2023

Learn more and apply at teachingworks.org/pbtecertificate

Join TeachingWorks at the University of Michigan School of Education for a year-long learning sequence in practice-based approaches to teacher education for teacher education methods course instructors. Using high-quality curriculum materials, participants will develop their competency in core pedagogies of practice-based teacher education, including using video, focusing on high-leverage practices, attending to issues of justice and equity, and more.

Improve your facility with practice-based approaches to preparing new teachers such as video analysis and rehearsal.

Build confidence in preparing new teachers who understand systemic inequity and use their practice to disrupt injustice.

Join a powerful network of teacher educators who are committed to improving their practice to prepare and support excellent beginning teachers.

Develop design and teaching techniques to support candidates to analyze, adapt and use high-quality instructional materials.

Application Process

The application to the 2023 cohort will be available from July 25, 2022, through October 15, 2022. TeachingWorks will offer an information webinar within the application window for interested applicants. Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis. Applicants will be notified of their admission status by October 31, 2022 and provided a prerequisite check-list to complete within eight weeks of applying.

July 25

Application Opens

September 16,
12:00 p.m. EST

Informational
Webinar

October 15

Application
Closes

October 31

Applicants
Notified

January 2023

Learning
Sequence Begins

Learn more and apply to join our inaugural cohort at teachingworks.org/pbtecertificate