

Arbor Day Essay

Luke Wilkins, St. Angela Merici School

When I think of trees I think of something that you can climb, make a tree house, and just enjoy with your friends. However, trees can do much more. Trees add life to the city and make it colourful. When you are in your city you feel alive and happy, when you see the color and the life all around whether you are walking, biking, driving, or just enjoying your time in Fairview Park. I especially love it when you can see the life of a tree change every season and the colors show what trees can really do if it is providing oxygen or just a fun time. What trees can provide is a welcoming and comfortable environment for new-comers of Fairview Park, or citizens enjoying their life with the magnificent trees. As a citizen of Fairview Park I feel that we should take charge of our environment and make sure we keep our community clean, safe, healthy, and welcoming so we can grow our community with trees and people.
