

First UU Society of Burlington Autumn Auction

The beautiful colors of the fall mean several things to me. Lots of leaves to rake, time to put away the canoes and get out the skis, and time for the UU Fall Auction.

This year the auction will operate a bit differently (all online), but will hopefully still feature opportunities to bring us together in many ways. We are expanding the auction categories to include more food, art, and gift items or baskets in addition to the usual services and gatherings. And while some items should be modified from their usual format (parties and dinners) to better accommodate appropriate safety concerns, we ask everyone to think creatively about how to offer something that will bring us together as friends and members of a supportive community.

To add an item to the auction, please return an auction donation form to the auction committee at autumnauction@uusociety.org. If you are unable to access the form you can simply send an email to the auction committee with the following information about your donation:

The auction website is up and running. You can go to:

www.auctria.com/auction/FUUSBtogether to register as a bidder and see items that are available for bidding. Keep coming back as the list will grow until the bidding starts on Saturday, November 7. Bidding will be open until Sunday, November 22.

WREATHS: We will also incorporate the annual Wreath Sale into the auction this year. Wreaths will be a fixed price item and we should have enough for everyone who wishes to purchase a wreath. Simply sign up as a bidder on the auction website to purchase a wreath during the open bidding period.

And if you have any questions, please contact anyone on the auction committee at autumnauction@uusociety.org. The auction committee consists of:

Dan House, Nina Harrington, Rodney Lowe, Sarah Forbes, Christina Fulton

Thank you all for your donations and your bids and your wonderful spirit of community.
