President-elect – Linh Nguyen

Vision Statement
I am honored and humbled to be recommended for the position of TAEA President-elect. As a current member, I have seen and felt the impact of TAEA in the lives of thousands of educators across the state. There is no greater experience than having your peers and colleagues share in the same vision and mission of promoting the visual arts. It is invaluable. If chosen as President-elect, I seek to embody the beliefs and standards as set forth by the Texas Art Education Association. I will continue to promote the importance of art education to positively influence the lives of teachers and students, and provide them a platform to advocate, celebrate and motivate. We will empower our teachers to have the knowledge and voice to ensure that equity exists in resources, support systems and inclusivity across the state. As an organization, we will continue to develop and grow leaders to ensure that we maintain a high level of achievement and integrity with the intent to sustain our vision and mission for many years to come.

Vision Statement
If elected to the role of Secretary for TAEA, I would focus on diligence and clarity. The recent House and Senate bills concerning fine arts elective credits in Texas public schools have reinforced the incredible value of TAEA and its collective voice. In serving as Secretary, I would do my best to ensure the integrity of that voice by keeping accurate and detailed records. I would put forth my best efforts to support the Executive Board, Executive Council, and Council-at-Large as they work creatively and collaboratively for our members and undertake to strengthen our advocacy efforts so that school, community, and government leaders come to see that art must be vitally connected to a student’s education for it to be whole.

Vision Statement
I look at the position of VP Membership with the Texas Art Education Association as an extension of the work I do in Richardson ISD as Director of VAPK12 for the past 11 years. Membership focuses on serving the art educator across Texas with a network of support that extends to the classroom with quality opportunities that directly develop student learning in the arts. My vision is to support TAEA in the creation and promotion of membership campaigns that upholds the benefits of membership and participation in TAEA with school districts, Division and Regional meetings and activities. For the past 31 years, I have been a member of TAEA & NAEA! I have supported TAEA by presenting at annual conferences, volunteered during annual conferences, Co-Chairs 3 Annual Conferences in the Dallas Area, participated in the TAEA Elementary Textbook Review Committee, and developed & organized several Area III Mini-Conferences in the DFW Area. Importantly, I will support and serve to develop quality art educators that will in turn support student learning and creativity in the arts.

Vision Statement
My vision for TAEA elementary division is to be a support system for Texas elementary art teachers as we continue to navigate the pandemic by creating a virtual community.

I’d also like to continue to offer a great variety of conference sessions - navigating technology by creating digital lessons, diversity in the arts focusing on underrepresented communities, and exploring contemporary art & artists. TEAM has been personally difficult for me & my district colleagues and I’d like to explore how we can make it more accessible for all elementary art teachers. Essentially, I’d like to streamline the fantastic qualities of TAEA to make it easier to navigate, participate in, and learn from our incredible teachers.

Vision Statement
I believe that educators are tour guides and that all students should have the opportunity to absorb everything the world has to offer from the comfort of the classroom (or their home). I believe that background knowledge is the glue that holds the learning together. Educators can level the playing field for all students and provide opportunities for success by using an arts education platform in order to build a framework of background knowledge. By using art as the foundation, educators have a unique opportunity to guide students in making connections, to foster critical thinking skills and to encourage collaboration while guiding them through the artistic process.

Vision Statement
As Supervision and Administration Chair-Elect, I would continue to keep the TAEA mission statement at the forefront of my leadership. In my work as an arts leader and arts advocate, I understand what it takes to connect a community. Working to continue the previous chairs' vision of connecting supervisors/administrators to build a community of support, sharing, and advocacy amongst the supervisors from across the state is essential. As is working to connect supervisors to higher education to build partnerships for developing, recruiting, and retaining art teachers with 21st-century skills. The divisions would collaborate to review and promote hiring practices that consider equity, diversity, and inclusion in order to secure art teachers that reflect the students and communities they serve. Lastly, it is important to continue to build arts advocacy, especially at our state level, as we have recently seen the gravity of staying in tune with proposed house and senate bills during this legislative season. The work the supervision and administration division has done to establish and promote districts of distinction is fundamental to our state advocacy and must be continued. The supervision and administration division is on a wonderful trajectory and the work that has been done will continue to move forward in a collaborative and meaningful way connecting divisions and members of TAEA.

Vision Statement
My vision for the higher education division of TAEA is based in inquiry and framed by four questions; (a) How can higher education art educators continue to share pedagogical best practices and experiences in order to strengthen art teacher education throughout the state? (b) How can we increase/facilitate/honor conversations and connections between K-12 and higher education to increase applications of theory-into-practice? (c) What is our role as educational researchers in shaping the future of art education in Texas? (d) How can we continue to foreground diverse voices and perspectives through our outreach, research and collaborations?

Higher Education Division Chair-elect - Luis Corpus

Vision Statement
My vision as Chair-Elect for Higher Education would be to support the recruitment initiatives and professional development opportunities as envisioned by the current Chair-Elect, and future Chair, Liliana Cabrera. I would also seek to propagate all current recruitment initiatives via Texas Art Schools Association, an organization comprised of Texas Art faculty from two-year, four-year public and private higher education institutions. As we make a return to the classroom, we should also retain virtual connectivity as a method to bolster participation in the annual Higher Education Professional Development Retreat. I would propose that we move towards live events as safety permits, while simultaneously creating a platform for virtual attendance. I have been a member of TAEA since 2011, having taught at Texas high schools from 2009-2017. As a teacher in public education, my intent was to promote student success. I continue do the same within my current capacity, understanding that we exist to build the scaffolding for the future generations of art educators.

Vision Statement
Museums play an essential role in supporting art education for students and educators in many ways, from the development of critical thinking skills and empathy to essential first-hand experiences with works of art from diverse cultures and time periods that enhance our shared understanding of humanity. The transformative power of art in museums provides unique and invaluable opportunities for student-centered dialogue, exploration of new perspectives, and exchanges that foster deeper understanding of diversity, equity, access, and inclusion in art education. We have faced rapid changes in how we provide resources for educators and students in the last year, and there are opportunities to take the best of the digital and virtual experiences museums have developed and integrate these into our practice going forward. My vision is to strengthen existing networks for museums and art educators in Texas in order to support culturally responsive art education, social justice, and growth in accessibility and inclusion for all students, art educators, and museums.

Vision Statement
My mission as Region 2 Representative is to continue to advocate for art education and help teachers grow as artist, mentors and educators. I am dedicated to introducing programs in our region such as Youth Art Month (YAM), Texas Elementary Art Meet (TEAM) and help grow VASE and Junior VASE participation. I am currently working with several artists and organizations to offer professional development opportunities to promote growth in art education practices, and support for Visual Art educators. What I love most about TAEA is: TAEA gives its members the opportunity to build a professional network of colleague who share the same passion for art education. As we learn from each other we become stronger advocates for our art students and programs in our schools.

Vision Statement
As an artist and educator, I care deeply about the value of an education in the arts. My philosophy of teaching is anchored by a personal goal to be a lifelong learner, consistently improving, and evolving my pedagogy through student mentorship, acting as a guide while also being a listener, and leading as a role model in and out of the classroom. I do this by mentoring their abilities in craft and process and guiding them throughout the identification and pursuit of their motivations as artists. As Region 3 Representative I will continue to support this philosophy as a guide to membership.

Vision Statement
A driving force behind my purpose as an art educator is helping students find their voice within their art. A student’s skills and knowledge are just the beginning of their journey. It’s through community interactions, critiques, and self-reflections that student’s start to understand the path they want to take. Much like the purpose I seek in the classroom, within TAEA, I hope to bring opportunities to other art educators to find their voice, to find ways to bring all that we have to offer to our students where connections are made and young artists are inspired. I believe through successful networks and mentorships in TAEA, teachers can find a place that feels safe to express themselves and ask the questions that will help them on their path.

Vision Statement
Through teacher-centered mini conferences, communication and encouragement, I hope to help the educators of Region 4 remember that they can inspire excitement within themselves and let it spread throughout their classrooms. Sometimes we forget that we should also have that time for ourselves in “the laboratory” to explore, create and grow. I want these educator experiences to be accessible in our professional development opportunities and conferences. We know the importance of student-centered teaching, but we should also know the importance of nurturing ourselves to help us remember why we want to share Art making with others.

Vision Statement
As I seek re-election for TAEA Region 6 Representative I am concerned about the state of art education in Texas. One of the strengths of TAEA is our ability to rally the troops in support of our teachers and students. As Region 6 Representative I have attempted to communicate with our members via social media at our online Fall Conference and will continue to reach out to our members so they know they are not alone in their efforts. I will organize gatherings that will benefit our members and advocate, communicate and facilitate for the teachers in Region 6.

Vision Statement
I have been a member of TAEA for over 17 years. In that time, I have used every opportunity available to me to grow my artistic knowledge and connections within the artistic community. I have served as a VASE director for 11 years. I truly believe in the mission of VASE and TAEA. I have worked hard to bring the message of originality, creative voice and encouragement not only to my students but to the community of teachers that I work with. Educating others has been my most rewarding achievement and helping find new and innovative ways to accomplish goals is what I feel art education is all about. As your region 11 representative, I plan to keep working with our teachers and students to empower creative unity.

Vision Statement
My vision for Region 12 would be meeting with all the teachers in the region. I would like to be able to find out how they are and what problems they face in teaching art students in Texas. I would like to have regular meetings and summer workshops. I personally feel like I need to step up and lead my region in the next few years. I have been fighting for years to get increased funding for supplies for my art classes. I have been presenting at our yearly conference and would like other leaders in the region to step up with me to present also. Because if you don’t….then who will? We as a whole stand stronger together.

Vision Statement
As a working artist with a museum education and curatorial background, I love to incorporate real life practice into my work as an art educator. When creating lessons and programs, I question; How can I create meaningful experiences for students? How might I encourage others to see value, make connections, and understand each other--through art?

My teaching philosophy, along with my goals to serve TAEA and its members; is to encourage creativity, personal growth, application and positive self-esteem while weaving in the importance of professionalism and real-life practice. I hope to be an effective communicator and facilitator between the many educational and supportive opportunities offered with the robust programming and energy of my fellow art educators. I enjoy bringing people together and helping them share their gifts with each other and the world. I hope to encourage and support my fellow art educators in this way.

Vision Statement
My philosophy concerning art and technology is to find out what students already know and understand. It is important to teach what the TEKS require, helping students to build their skills through demonstrations, research, and application of what is learned. I want to help students link new concepts and skills to prior knowledge. I expect students to be eager, use their own creative ideas, and build their skills as they become more proficient in their own artistic abilities. I view my role of teacher as one of introducing, inspiring, demonstrating, and guiding a student’s process of learning. As an art educator, I will constantly look for ways to improve my expertise and teaching skills. I aspire to do the very best I can in the classroom, never forgetting the influence I have on my students. I want to promote an enthusiasm for art and learning by expressing the passion I have for what I teach. I believe in a constructive approach to education that places significance on student experiences. As your Region 17 Representative I want to communicate and help members to inspire their students and themselves.

“TO IGNITE INSPIRATION, BRING CULTURE AND EDUCATE ABOUT ART TO THE WHOLE REGION.”
TAEA is an association that I believe in since day one. I love being the representative of Region 18 with TAEA, I strongly believe that is imperative for all of us art teachers to have a sense of belonging, because this is where you meet other humans like you, with the same vocation, interest and passion for art. I would love for all the art teachers in the region to belong to TAEA and experience how amazing our conference is every year, how refreshing it is, how you learn so much from other amazing art teachers, also to educate young teachers about how they are not alone with any concern or problems they may face. This association and their members are here to back them up.

Region 20 - Ambra Hernandez

Vision Statement
There are more than 65 independent school districts, private schools, charter chapters and home schools represented in Region 20. It is important to keep the region updated on local news and events through a variety of media channels, including but not limited to local and regional news, social media and e-publications, just to name a few. It also is imperative to promote the importance of art education by facilitating a wide variety of professional development opportunities, while keeping the region updated on TAEA programs, such as annual conferences, YAM, High School VASE/Junior VASE/TEAM and membership recruitment. Lastly, we must have an open forum where art educators can share their accomplishments in the region, while posing any questions they may have so they can be addressed through the appropriate channels.
