Parents today worry that kids are addicted, detached or distracted because of digital devices. Often, adults are less conscious about what they are modelling with their own relationship with technology. Tech-savvy Digital Natives need mentorship to thrive, develop social skills and succeed in a future where they will likely find a job, meet their spouse and build their reputations in interactive, digital communities.

Adults can share our own lifetime of social wisdom to mentor children to become the best people that they can be.

About Devorah Heitner

An expert on young people's relationship with digital media and technology, Dr. Devorah Heitner is the author of "Screenwise: Helping Kids Thrive (and Survive) in Their Digital World" and founder of Raising Digital Natives. Her mission is to cultivate a culture of empathy and social/emotional literacy. Dr. Heitner's work has appeared in the New York Times, the Washington Post, The Wall Street Journal, TIME magazine and Education Week. She has a Ph.D. in Media/Technology & Society from Northwestern University and has taught at DePaul and Northwestern. She is delighted to be raising her own digital native.

Seating is limited, so register today!
